The Grant Family Say Farewell to their Dead.

NEWS ITEMS FROM THE EAST.

More Bad Behavior by Boss Buckley's Men—An Objectionable Sentence Removed—An Invalid Commits Suicide, Etc.

MT MCGREGOR, Aug 2.—This has been a memorial day at the Grant cottage and the family has been saying farewell to the dead. This afternoon the widow asked that Dr Newman should be sent for. When he came Mrs Grant reminded the pastor that the dead would be hers only a little while longer and asked him to be with the family while they gathered in the cottage parlor to say their farewells. Thus it was that about [illegible] o'clock Mrs Grant and her daughter and each of her three sons and their wives, were in the room with the dead. Dr Newman and his wife were also present. The family surrounded the catafalque and Mrs Grant from a table brought forth her dead husband's bible which she opened and passed to Dr. Newman. It was found that the book was opened at the 14th chapter of Job. The chapter was read and then the clergyman recited the 15th and 16th verses, and then a prayer of gratitude was offered up—gratitude for the beautiful character of the silent one. After this the entire family there alone with their pastor entered with him into a religious conversation and then each and all dwelt upon the reminiscences recalled by the General's last sickness. Dr Newman after carefully examining the general's face expressed satisfaction at its appearance and the opinion that the remains are in a condition of perfect preservation.

In accordance with the desire of Colonel Grant the body of General Grant will lie in state at this place from 1 to 6 o'clock to-morrow.

Archbishop Ryan of Philadelphia, officiated in the consecration and Bishop Watterson of Columbus Ohio delivered the oration. Visiting clergymen and prelates were present from all parts of the country. There was no vacancy in the Episcopacy here but a coadjutor became necessary on account of the long illness of Bishop Quigg.

MORE BAD BEHAVIOR BY BOSS BUCKLEY'S MEN.

SAN FRANCISCO Aug [illegible].—One of the most prominent figures in political life for some time past has been a deputy sheriff denominated Big Burns. His notoriety was chiefly due to the fact that he was recognized as the exemplification of boss rule. He had done Buckley good service in capturing the clubs at the late election and in recognition of his patriotic services had been given a place with $150 a month as deputy sheriff. Impelled by his evil genius this individual pledged himself to Jack Hallinan to save the prize fighter Jim Carr from falling a victim to the fists of Tom Cleary in the recent fight at the Mechanics pavilion. There was $250 of Hallinan's money staked on Carr and as Carr was getting the worst of the fight Big Burns faithful to his promise rushed forward to interfere, when a little policeman rose up and clutched him by the throat and dragged him out of the building. A few days ago his resignation was accepted by Sheriff Hopkins. The employment by Sheriff Hopkins of several men who assisted like Burns in carrying primaries has caused the sheriff's department such annoyance that reform has been instituted there. The elimination of Burns from the roll was the first move and was made, it is said, in accordance with a desire of Buckley that the sheriff should exercise his own discretion about the retention of his deputies. The position assumed by Buckley was that he had discharged his obligations by placing his bulldozers in office and that once in their position their term of service depended on their own conduct. The sheriff emboldened by this concession struck Coleman also from his list of deputies and is said to be contemplating other changes that will not lessen the efficiency of his department while making it less vulnerable to public criticism. In view of the conditions existing in the sheriff's office the matter of filing articles of impeachment against him is being agitated.

OBJECTIONABLE SENTENCE REMOVED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug 2—When the supreme court made an order Wednesday last in the case of Sharon vs. Sharon (divorce case), granting the petition of the plaintiff (Miss Hill) for a rehearing in the matter of alimony the following language was used by Justice Ross: "It is difficult to deal patiently with such perversion of facts." Considerable comment was excited over this clause, and the court made the following new order concerning the objectionable words: "Counsel for plaintiff feel aggrieved and claim that the opinion as written charges them with willful perversion of facts. As that was not intended and as the opinion goes into the report it is ordered that the expression 'It is difficult to deal patiently with such perversion of facts' be stricken from the opinion."

AN INVALID COMMITS SUICIDE.

OLYMPIA Aug [illegible].—A man named Reynolds, residing at South Bay shot himself this morning while his family were at breakfast. He had been suffering for some time from neuralgia and catarrh and his recovery was considered impossible. Coroner Hartsuck visited the residence of deceased but it being a clear case of suicide, concluded that he would not hold an inquest.

The Impending Fight Over the Spoils.

Pittsburg Dispatch.

It is now deeply and darkly hinted that instead of the republican senators antagonizing Cleveland the democratic senators will undertake that job with the democratic house of representatives behind them. Most especially is the minatory assertion made, as indicated in our Washington dispatches, that if the president interferes with the spoils-jobber whom Mr Hendricks has got into the Indianapolis postoffice the vice president will lead the bread and butter faction in open revolt.

It may be relied upon that this course will only be taken as an extreme resort. A party whose sole principle is the patronage will not fight the dispenser of the patronage until all other means have failed. While there is any hope of getting offices out of the president Mr Hendricks and the senators and representatives will remain as true to Cleveland as the needle to the pole. A rebellion of this kind will show that their last hope of getting their noses into the trough has failed.

That such a fight should break out would not be very unpleasant to independent and honorable citizens. It seems to be as good an opportunity as ever is likely to occur to fight out squarely the issue whether public office is to be held as a public trust or whether it is to be used as an instrument of political corruption.

If the machine democrats are anxious to get up an issue of this kind the circumstances of the proposed fight are extremely favorable for wiping them out of political existence.

THE NEWS OF SATURDAY.

Following is an epitome of the news of Saturday printed in full in the SUNDAY OREGONIAN:

DOMESTIC.

The decrease of the public debt during July was $8,[illegible].

Many cars of live stock are being shipped east over the Northern Pacific.

The supreme court commissioners appointed for the purpose have reported in favor of the proposed cable road system in New York. It includes [illegible] routes.

The Mexican editors reached Denver on their way home. They are [illegible] of the opinion that an era of closer relations between the two republics is dawning.

Secretary Whitney has made public the criticisms of the naval advisory board upon the report of the Dolphin board of special examiners, together with the reply of the latter.

General Joseph E Johnston was in Portland when he received notification of his selection as one of the pall bearers at General Grant's funeral and started at once for Washington.

Judge Israel Lawton recently appointed superintendent of the mint of San Francisco took formal charge to-day and announced the appointment of David Hirshberg as chief clerk.

[illegible] Olin has commenced suit against defendants to obtain possession of about 15 acres of land situated in the heart of San Francisco, the value of which is [illegible] $[illegible],000,000 and $[illegible].

At Fremont Ohio the soldiers' monument erected by the people of Sandusky county was unveiled with imposing ceremonies. Ex President Hayes delivered the address paying a tribute to the greatness of General Grant.

Sarah Althea Hill Sharon invaded the private office of William Sharon at San Francisco with blood in her eye. Fortunately Sharon was out of town. Sarah announces that she will go on the lecture platform to raise funds to prosecute her suit.

Attorney General Garland to whom the secretary of the interior referred the question of power of the interior department to authorize the Indians to lease their lands for grazing purposes has transmitted to Secretary Lamar an opinion in effect that no such power exists under the law.

The difficulty between the Pacific Mail and Washington postal authorities culminated in a positive refusal of the company to carry mails for Central American and Southern American ports, excepting those for Mexico and Costa Rica from which countries the Pacific Mail receives a subsidy.—The mail was sent overland to New York and New Orleans whence it will be distributed to its various destinations.

The arrangements for General Grant's funeral are practically completed. Very close estimates place the number of men likely to be in procession at 140,000 and it is probable that 400,000 people will fall into line as the rear of the procession passes along the route.—It is reported that the house in which General Grant was born has been purchased for $7000 and will be removed to one of the New York parks.—General Hancock has notified the ex presidents that President Cleveland desires their presence at the services. Ex Presidents Arthur and Hayes have been invited.

FOREIGN.

The Riel case will be carried on a writ of habeas corpus before the supreme court at Ottawa.

George V. N. Lathrop the new United States minister to Russia, has presented his credentials to the czar.

S. S. Cox United States minister has been officially instructed by his government to resume negotiations with the porte for modification of the Turkish tariff on American imports.

In London only a small number of the Americans present can obtain seats at the Grant memorial services in Westminster abbey on Tuesday and in consequence there are great heart burnings.

At Regina Riel addressed the jury in his case before they retired for deliberation. The jury [illegible] about twenty minutes and returned [illegible] September 18.

OLYMPIA NOTES

OLYMPIA, [illegible] 1885.

A bank of clay has been discovered here which it is thought will make excellent fire brick.

The published proposition of the Pacific base ball club of Snohomish to play a match game with the Seattle Reds on August 8, the day set apart for the funeral of General Grant, is considered most indecent and deserving of a public reprimand through the press.

The following delegates from this district lodge to the grand lodge I. O. G. T. which meets at Centralia August 18, were elected on Wednesday evening last: Wilson Hatfield, Hoquiam lodge representative—Livermore alternate; [illegible] and P M Watson of Elma; [illegible] and M Barker of Chehalis; Minnie [illegible] and Anna Pattison of Tacoma lodge Olympia; [illegible] and —Smith of Terminus lodge, Tacoma.

Engineer Sears assisted by W J Craig, has just completed a survey of the bay looking to the erection of a wharf to deep water. The distance to be built from Washington and Front streets to where the water is [illegible] feet deep at low tide is 2500 feet, which would be a saving of over one thousand feet compared with Main street. During the survey it was found that there is five feet of water over half the distance and as it is proposed to build two [illegible] small craft could land at any time. As the matter is of vital importance to Olympia it no doubt will receive early consideration and it is to be hoped that work may be commenced at an early day.

On Thursday evening a delightful party took place at the residence of Mr and Mrs J C Horr in this city, under the auspices of the young ladies union. The affair under the superintendence of Misses Rose Clark, Ida Lemon and Maggie [illegible] was admirably planned and carried out to the full satisfaction of everyone present. Vocal and instrumental music, games and refreshments formed the principal feature of the evening's entertainment and were fully enjoyed. Among those present were Mr and Mrs J C Horr, Mrs Whatney, Mr and Mrs M O'Connor, Mr and Mrs W McC Irving, Mr and Mrs F Farquhar, Mrs Goldstein, Mrs W Elwell, Miss Ida Lemon, Miss Rose Clark, Miss Maggie Grainger, Miss Juliet Moore, Miss Lucy Munson, Miss Mabel Bruner, Miss Emma Hood, Miss Eva Ostrander, Miss Belle Tate, Miss May Coons, Miss Belle Wilson, Messrs Gus and Mitchell Harris, J P Ouellette, A B Brown, Frank Turpin, Fred Whitney, Dr Carlsen, Mr Spencer, Charles Sawyer, Mr Kirkland, Mr Johnson and W H Roberts.

This is Wonderful

New York Tribune.

There is not a dyed-in-the-wool bourbon in this country who will not be moved to tears of sympathy when he reads the [illegible] tribute to civil service reform. The [illegible] is a democrat in good and regular standing, and this is what it has to say in regard to the great issue in question: "We conscientiously believe if the democratic platform in this state next fall should consist solely of the words 'To the victors belong the spoils' we could carry the state by a larger majority than though our party had [illegible] the republican Miss Nancys in this state hanging to its skirts and voting its ticket." What truly noble sentiments are these. What a light they cast upon the [illegible] conception of the unwasted and [illegible] vigor of the democratic appetite.

More Than Thanks.

Fort Madison Iowa, Mrs Lydia E. Pinkham: "I am glad to inform you that I have tried one bottle of your Vegetable Compound and have found great relief. I can't thank you enough for your kind advice. I have never felt so well as I do now since I had these troubles." Yours Pe[illegible], Mrs W [illegible]. —The above is a sample of the many letters received by Mrs. Pinkham expressing gratitude for the benefit derived from her Vegetable Compound. Another letter from [illegible], Texas says: "Your Compound has done me more good than all the doctors ever did, for which I [illegible] you with all my heart. Your friend Anna [illegible]."

Blighted Hopes

Macon Telegraph (Dem)

It is less than a year since many of our townsmen, in the honest exuberance of their enthusiasm, dragged out the cannon and fired a tremendous salute in honor of a great democratic victory. But to-day the offensive partisans who looked out and beheld the triumphant celebration of a democratic victory last November still hold their citadel. Ten republican negroes draw fat salaries while the very men who battled bravely in defense of the people's liberty [illegible] without work or labor for poor pay in such places as they can find. This is modern democracy and progressive reform.

One Way to Divide the Colored Vote.

Providence Journal.

A good deal is being said in southern and some northern democratic newspapers about "dividing the negro vote." The negro vote has been divided in the south for some years past. In fact, ever since enfranchisement to a considerable extent between those who were willing to vote as the democrats wanted and those who took to the woods.

Robert Burns Wilson, in New York Tribune.

Forgotten is the sword. The bugle's blast
No more recalls fierce memories of the fight;
Faint echoes only through the voiceless night
Come softly floating from the muffled past.
Life's slowly ebbing tide is almost turned. At last
Hope spreads her wings for her departing flight,
And on the darkening fields the lingering light
Of days declining wealth is cast.
A deadlier battle now is waged—and now
The arm of Victory [illegible]
Strikes from the opposing side the dauntless brow
Which War's red hand and Slander's fang hath spared.
[illegible] Honor writes on Glory's shield his name
And by his side still stands unconquered Fame.

A Long Felt Want

New York Tribune.

A great popular want is a national game law containing a provision authorizing a fellow citizen to shoot any other fellow citizen who between the first day of July and the first day of September shall veer [illegible] from the tide of conversation into the channel of the weather. Such a law would be without partisan bias and would commend itself to all men whatever their politics who own a gun and believe in the extermination of whatever menaces the public weal.

Defining Its Policy.

Boston Journal's Washington dispatch.

An old political observer says that the administration has defined its policy and that it may thus far be summarized in these points: First, the spoils through frivolous charges of offensive partisanship. Second, the employment of prison labor. Third, drive the American merchant marine from the seas. Fourth, close the American shipyards. Fifth, down with American labor.

A Very Destructive Fire Sweeps Over Toronto.

LOSSES OVER A MILLION DOLLARS.

A Big Scandal at Eton—Another Society Sensation in London—Rumors of a Conflict Between Russians and Afghans.

TORONTO, Aug 3.—A fearfully destructive fire commenced about 12 [illegible] this morning in a large brick building erected by the Toronto Sugar Refining Company on the esplanade. A strong wind is blowing from the east and carried chunks of burning timber along the esplanade, igniting wooden buildings as far west as five or six blocks. In a short time nothing was left of the sugar refinery but the walls and smoke stack. The buildings of Saulter, Evans, Heakes, Gunselles and Ibbotson, all boat-builders, Reid & Co, and Welch & Co., lumber merchants, Currier, Martin & Co., boiler makers, and other buildings are in flames, and unless the wind changes the whole south side of the esplanade will have to succumb. Sparks are flying and lodging on the roofs of large warehouses on Front and Wellington streets, and fears are entertained that several of them may take fire. The fire brigade are and have been working manfully but their efforts seem powerless. The streets are lined with thousands of people. The loss has been enormous. Several schooners are burned to the water's edge. The fire is now half a mile in length.

THE FLAMES SPREADING.

2 45 A M.—The work of destruction on the esplanade still goes on, having reached the foot of Yonge street, all intervening buildings and wharves having been burned to the ground. The Great Western freight sheds, formerly a passenger station, on the north side of the esplanade, is in imminent danger and is expected to be in flames every moment. The steamer Chicora is getting up steam to go out into the lake. The steamer Ontario began to tow out the steamer Mazeppa but a schooner blocked the way, and they could not get out. The Mazeppa has caught fire and all three will have to succumb to the flames, unless the wind changes. The whole south side of the esplanade as far as Union station, will undoubtedly burn. Showers of sparks are being carried to the opposite side of the street and if the buildings there catch fire there is no saying what immense damage will be done.

The fire brigade is absolutely powerless. It is feared Watchman Worth of the sugar refinery has lost his life, as he has not been seen since the fire started. William McCallum, seaman of the schooner Annie Mulvey, is dangerously burned about the head. Several elevators, coal yards, schooners, ferryboats, warehouses and many boat-houses are among the property destroyed. The loss so far is estimated at over a million dollars.

CHECKED.

3 [illegible] A M.—So far the fire has been unable to pass the gap between the Scot and Yonge street wharves, but is completing the destruction on the path it has traveled. A hurricane has just sprung up from the northwest, which threatens to drive the fire across the street to the main part of the city, but buildings on the south side are burned so nearly to the ground that unless the main part of the city catches from sparks it is thought to be safe.

UNDER CONTROL.

4 [illegible] A M.—The fire is now under control. It is impossible to obtain losses and insurance to-night.

ENGLAND.

A [illegible] SCHOOL SCANDAL.

LONDON, Aug 2.—The latest scandal affects Eton school the highest institution of its kind, which is situated just across the river from the royal castle and park of Windsor. It has been ascertained that for months hordes of abandoned women from surrounding towns and London had a rendezvous at Windsor. They are met at night by school boys, 16 or 17 years old, and driven around the district in carriages. The example of the big boys was speedily imitated by younger lads, and becoming more daring they invaded Windsor park with women. An exhaustive secret inquiry followed the discovery of these facts, and the result was that nearly 300 boys made full confessions, and all the guilty ones were forbidden to return next term. The head master forbears expelling them publicly to prevent a scandal and moreover because boys expelled from Eton are forever ineligible for appointment to the army, navy or church, and have their prospects in life forever blasted. Many of the boys are connected with the highest English families and every one of them is supplied with an amount of pocket money equal to an ordinary man's entire income. The boys presented lavish tips to the park keepers and police to purchase their silence, and since the investigation the masters have made strenuous efforts to keep the shameful story out of print.

ANOTHER SOCIETY SENSATION.

LONDON, Aug 2.—The latest society sensation in London is caused by the announcement that Lord Chief Justice Coleridge is about to marry an American lady whom he first met on the steamer on which he returned from the United States three years ago and who threatened to bring action for breach of promise if he did not marry her. Society is much agitated over the approaching event. His lordship's sons and daughters are said to be very angry.

A ROYAL APOLOGY.

LONDON, Aug [illegible].—The queen having misunderstood the date of the funeral of Sir Moses Montefiore sent nobody to attend the funeral in her behalf as she had intended to do. She has sent to the relatives a letter expressing her regret at the circumstance.

IRELAND.

THE SPLIT IN THE IRISH LEAGUE.

TRALEE, Aug [illegible].—At a large meeting of the suspended branch of the league to-day a resolution of defiance of the central committee was adopted, attributing the latter's action to the supposition that the Tralee branch would in the general election successfully oppose Parnell's candidates and vote for the candidates of Davitt's party.

CHINA.

FRENCH TROOPS SUFFERING TERRIBLY.

PARIS, Aug [illegible].—French troops in Tonquin are suffering terribly from dysentery and fever. Deaths now average twelve per day. The Temps, commenting on this, wishes the government to recall troops who have served eighteen months.

CANADA.

RIEL'S CONVICTION AND SENTENCE.

OTTAWA, Aug [illegible].—The conviction and sentence of Louis Riel is the all absorbing topic to-day. Orangemen and English subjects generally consider it a righteous judgment while among French Canadians considerable excitement and indignation is manifested.

AUSTRO-HUNGARY.

DUEL BETWEEN ARMY OFFICERS.

TRIESTE, Aug [illegible].—In consequence of a political quarrel two Austrian and Italian army officers fought a duel in a suburb of this city to-day. The Austrian was mortally wounded.

The Grant Family Say Farewell to their Dead.

NEWS ITEMS FROM THE EAST

More Bad Behavior by Boss Buckley's Men—An Objectionable Sentence Removed—An Invalid Commits Suicide, Etc

MT MCGREGOR Aug 2—This has been a memorial day at the Grant cottage and the family has been saying farewell to the dead This afternoon the widow asked that Dr Newman should be sent for When he came Mrs Grant reminded the pastor that the dead would be hers only a little while longer and asked him to be with the family while they gathered in the cottage parlor to say their farewells Thus it was that about [illegible] o clock Mrs Grant and her daughter and each of her three sons and their wives were in the room with the dead Dr Newman and his wife were also present The family surrounded the catafalque, and Mrs Grant from a table brought forth her dead husband's bible which she opened and passed to Dr Newman It was found that the book was opened at the 14th chapter of Job The chapter was read and then the clergyman recited the 14th and 15th verses, and then a prayer of gratitude was offered up—gratitude for the beautiful character of the silent one After this the entire family there alone with their pastor, entered with him into a religious conversation and then each and all dwelt upon the reminiscences recalled by the General's last sickness Dr Newman after carefully scanning the general's face expressed satisfaction at its appearance and the opinion that the remains are in condition of perfect preservation

MORE BAD BEHAVIOR BY BOSS BUCKLEY'S MEN

SAN FRANCISCO Aug [illegible]—One of the most prominent figures in political life for some time past has been a deputy sheriff denominated Big Burns. His notoriety was chiefly due to the fact that he was recognized as the exemplification of boss rule He had done Buckley good service in capturing hostile clubs at the late election, and in recognition of his patriotic services had been given a place at $150 a month as deputy sheriff Impelled by his evil genius this individual pledged himself to Jack Hallinan to save the prize fighter Jim Carr from falling a victim to the fists of Tom Cleary in the recent fight at the Mechanics pavilion There was $[illegible] of Hallinan's money staked on Carr and as Carr was getting the worst of the fight Big Burns faithful to his promise rushed forward to interfere when a little policeman rose up and clutched him by the throat and dragged him out of the building A few days ago his resignation was accepted by Sheriff Hopkins The employment by the sheriff Hopkins of several men who assisted Burns in carrying primaries has caused the sheriff's department [illegible] annoyance [illegible] the sheriff should exercise his own discretion about the retention of his deputies The position assumed by Buckley is [illegible] [illegible] his obligations [illegible] making [illegible] less vulnerable to public criticism In view of the conditions existing in the sheriff's office the matter of filing articles of impeachment against him is being agitated

The Impending Fight Over the Spoils

Pittsburg Dispatch

It is now deeply and darkly hinted that instead of the republican senators antagonizing Cleveland the democratic senators will undertake that job with the democratic house of representatives behind them Most especially is the minatory assertion made as indicated in our Washington dispatches that if the president interferes with the spoilsman whom Mr Hendricks has got into the Indianapolis postoffice the vice president will lead the bread and butter faction in open revolt

It may be reasoned upon that this course will only be taken as an extreme resort A party whose sole principle is the patronage will not fight the dispenser of the patronage until all other means have failed While there is any hope of getting offices out of the president Mr Hendricks and the senators and representatives will remain as true to Cleveland as the needle to the pole. A rebellion of this kind will show that their last hope of getting their noses into the trough has failed.

That such a fight should break out would not be very unpleasant to independent and honorable citizens It seems to be as good an opportunity as ever is likely to occur to fight out squarely the issue whether public office is to be held as a public trust or whether it is to be used as an instrument of political corruption.

If the machine democrats are anxious to get up an issue of this kind, the circumstances of the proposed fight are extremely favorable for wiping them out of political existence

The arrangements for General Grant's funeral are practically completed Very close estimates place the number of men likely to be in procession at 140,000 and it is probable that 400,000 people will fall into line as the rear of the procession passes along the route —It is reported that the house in which General Grant was born has been purchased for $[illegible] 000 and will be removed to one of the New York parks —General Hancock has notified the ex presidents that President Cleveland desires their presence at the services. One Way to Divide the Colored Vote.

A good deal is being said in southern and some northern, democratic newspapers about "dividing the negro vote." The negro vote has been divided in the south for some years past in fact, ever since enfranchisement to a considerable extent between those who were willing to vote with the democrats wanted and those who took to the woods.

Robert Burns Wilson in New York Tribune

Forgotten is the sword The bugle's blast
No more recalls the memories of the fight
Faint echoes only through the voiceless night
Come softly floating from the muffled past
Life's lowering flag is almost furled At last
Hope spreads her wings for her departing flight
And on the darkening fields the lingering light
Of days declining wearily is cast
A deadlier battle now is waged—and now
The arm of Victory to the soldier bared
Strikes, from the opposing side the dauntless brow
Which War's red hand and Slander's fang hath spared
But Honor writes on Glory's shield his name
And by his side still stands unconquered Fame

An old political observer says that the administration has defined its policy, and that it may thus far be summarized in these points. First, the spoils through frivolous charges of offensive partisanship. Second, the employment of prison labor. Third, drive the American merchant marine from the seas. Fourth, close the American shipyards. Fifth, down with American labor,

A Very Destructive Fire Sweeps Over Toronto.

LOSSES OVER A MILLION DOLLARS.

A Big Scandal at Eton—Another Society Sensation in London—Rumors of a Conflict Between Russians and Afghans

TORONTO Aug [illegible] A fearfully destructive fire commenced about 1 30 this morning in a large brick building erected by the Toronto Sugar Refining Company on the esplanade A strong wind is blowing from the east and carried chunks of burning lumber along the esplanade igniting wooden buildings as far west as five or six blocks In a short time nothing was left of the sugar refinery but the walls and smoke-stack The buildings of Soulter Evans Heakes, Gunselles and Ibbotson, all boat builders Reid & Co and Welch & Co lumber merchants Currier Martin & Co., boiler makers, and other buildings are in flames, and unless the wind changes the whole south side of the esplanade will have to succumb Sparks are flying and lodging on the roofs of large warehouses on Front and Wellington streets, and fears are entertained that several of them may take fire The fire brigade are and have been working manfully but their efforts seem powerless The streets are lined with thousands of people The loss has been enormous Several schooners are burned to the water's edge The fire is now half a mile in length

THE FLAMES SPREADING.

[illegible] A M The work of destruction on the esplanade still goes on having reached the foot of Younge street all intervening buildings and wharves having been burned to the ground. The Great Western freight sheds formerly a passenger station on the north side of the esplanade is in imminent danger and is expected to be in flames every moment The steamer Chicora is getting up steam to go out into the lake The steamer Ontario began to tow out the steamer Mazeppa but a schooner blocked the way, and they could not get out The Mazeppa has caught fire and all three will have to succumb to the flames unless the wind changes The whole south side of the esplanade as far as Union station will undoubtedly burn Showers of sparks are being carried to the opposite side of the street and if the buildings there catch fire there is no saying what immense damage will be done

The fire brigade is absolutely powerless. It is feared Watchman Worth of the sugar refinery has lost his life, as he has not been seen since the fire started William McCallum seaman of the schooner Annie Mulvey, is dangerously burned about the head Several elevators, coal yards schooners, ferryboats warehouses and many boat houses are among the property destroyed The loss so far is estimated at over a million dollars

[illegible] A M—So far the fire has been unable to pass the gap between the Scott and Younge street wharves but is completing the destruction on the path it has traveled A hurricane has just sprung up from the northwest, which threatens to drive the fire across the street to the main part of the city, but buildings on the south side are burned so nearly to the ground that unless the main part of the city catches from sparks it is thought to be safe

UNDER CONTROL.

[illegible] A M—The fire is now under control It is impossible to obtain losses and insurance to-night.

A BIG SCHOOL SCANDAL.

LONDON Aug 2—The latest scandal affects Eton school the highest institution of its kind, which is situated just across the river from the royal castle and park of Windsor It has been ascertained that for months hordes of abandoned women from surrounding towns and London had a rendezvous at Windsor They are met at night by school boys, 16 or 17 years old and driven around the district in carriages The example of the big boys was speedily imitated by younger lads, and becoming more daring they invaded Windsor park with women An exhaustive secret inquiry followed the discovery of these facts and the result was that nearly 300 boys made full confessions, and all the guilty ones were forbidden to return next term The head master forbears expelling them publicly to prevent a scandal and moreover because boys expelled from Eton are forever ineligible for appointment to the army navy or church and have their prospects in life forever blasted Many of the boys are connected with the highest English families, and every one of them is supplied with an amount of pocket money equal to an ordinary man's entire income The boys presented lavish tips to the park keepers and police to purchase their silence and since the investigation the masters have made strenuous efforts to keep the shameful story out of print

The Oregonian.

PORTLAND, MONDAY, AUGUST 3, 1885.

THE CHOLERA.

The cholera in Spain is very prevalent and very fatal. The number of new cases each day is from 1500 to 3000, and the deaths average about forty per cent of the whole. This is about the usual proportion of deaths from cholera in its most terrible visitations in Great Britain and the United States. In Russia and some parts of Turkey the death rate has been as high as sixty per cent. of all those attacked. But even the lower mortality now prevailing in Spain shows that the type of cholera which is scourging that country is very malignant, and it will be surprising indeed if it do not spread over Europe within a year, and even reach America. Its progress is not always checked as summer wanes. It has raged in midwinter, and with great fatality, at St. Petersburg, at a time when the temperature was from thirty to forty degrees below zero, showing that its morbific cause is not destroyed by intense cold—though the conditions for the growth of the poison that produces the disease, which are largely found in ordinary water containing organic impurities and in decomposing animal and vegetable matter, are not so prevalent in winter as in summer, at considerable distances from the equator.

Several writers have articles on the subject of cholera, in the August number of the North American Review. Their object is to furnish popular information on the subject, and yet embody in it the results of scientific observation. An article by Dr. John C. Peters is especially clear and appropriate. It presses on the attention of the reader the fact that cholera is a specific disease produced by development of its own germ, and not otherwise; that no disease resembling cholera in some of its symptoms becomes cholera; that the causes which produce diseases resembling cholera in some respects will not produce cholera itself, and that the specific cholera germ must be introduced into the body to produce the disease. Without the true cholera germ there can be no case of cholera; yet it cannot be called a contagious disease as yellow fever or smallpox is, since multitudes may be in its presence and never be attacked by it, as some persons in certain situations will take malarial fevers while others in the same situations will not.

Dr. Peters goes on to explain that impure air will not produce cholera; that polluted water and unfit food will not produce it; but that when cholera is actually present any of these causes, as well as fear, anxiety and distress of mind, will render its attacks more probable; and, if they occur, more malignant and more probably fatal. In the presence of actual cholera nauseous, smoky steams and exhalations, the impurities of gutters, sinks and sewers, of stable yards, slaughtering works and filthy, stagnant water, will increase the danger. The nauseous reek of every place of this description gives notice of the existence of a habitat or nidus for cholera, which it is sure to occupy when the germs are introduced; and the germs, multiplying therein, may be carried in a thousand unsuspected ways into the human body. But unless the distinctive cholera germs are present there will be no cholera, though the disturbances to health resulting from bad sanitary conditions may in some ways resemble it.

Cholera is caused by the access of a specific poison to the stomach or intestines. This poison is an organic germ which is developed spontaneously only in certain parts of India. In the delta of the Ganges cholera is always present, though it is seldom very fatal there. But when it is carried abroad it often develops an extreme malignity, apparently finding material abroad to grow in, which gives it a more active development than it usually attains in its native home. It is one of the most ancient diseases of which history gives an account. Possibly, in the course of centuries, the English in India may eradicate it by destroying its productive source or inciting cause. The fact that its ravages there have been lessened very much during the present century indicates a possibility that it may, in time, be wholly extirpated.

A SIMPLE CALCULATION.

Perhaps by an additional statement we may make the one question involved in the discussion as to the shipment of wheat in sea-going ships from Portland or from Astoria somewhat more clear to those whom it may concern. It is not a question to be disputed between Astoria and Portland; still less between the Astorian and OREGONIAN. The simple inquiry is, in what way can wheat be shipped out of the Columbia river at least cost?

The wheat comes to Portland. Lines of transportation from the wheat region all converge here. Hence the wheat must be carried from Portland to Astoria. How?

Hitherto it has been found more profitable to bring vessels up to Portland to load them, even if the entire cargo could not be put on board here. The least money for which wheat can be carried from Portland to Astoria in boats is, say, one dollar per ton. But pilotage and towage for a ship of one thousand tons from Astoria to Portland and return does not cost nearly this amount per ton.

Again, vessels will charter to load at Astoria for about 62½ cents per (long) ton less than to load at Portland. This represents just about the amount which the average vessel must pay to ascend from Astoria to Portland and return. But wheat cannot be transported in boats from Portland to Astoria for 62½ cents. The present cost is about $1 25.

The whole question is simply one of relative cost. Buyers and shippers at Portland have no preference whatever for loading wheat here rather than at Astoria. It is simply a study of cheapness. An advantage of ten cents a ton would cause them to load at Astoria. If, as some surmise, the river improvements this year shall be too slow to give a sufficient channel, then shippers will be compelled to lighter more or less. In this case they will pay the producer about 50 cents less per ton for his wheat.

The difference between charters at San Francisco and at Portland is about ten shillings. Between San Francisco and Astoria it is about seven shillings six-pence. Of the ten shillings difference between San Francisco and Portland two and a half shillings represent the cost of bringing ships from Astoria to Portland and return. Wheat can't be carried down the river from Portland to Astoria, in barges, for that money.

So many papers have spoken of an alleged relation of THE OREGONIAN to the change that has recently taken place in the Standard, that it is perhaps due to the latter paper to say that there is no foundation whatever for the statement or rumor. The change was not brought about either directly or indirectly by THE OREGONIAN, by its proprietors, or by any person or persons acting for it or them. The Standard, so far as we know, is going it "on its own hook." It would seem, however, almost unnecessary to deny that THE OREGONIAN is "running" the Standard, since it is perhaps sufficiently known that this paper puts some energy, and the elements of success, into whatever it undertakes.

The St. Louis Republican says: "It is not likely that St. Louis merchants will do anything to hold the southern trade of St. Louis against Chicago. The railroads won't let them and that settles it. When a railroad will not let a St. Louis merchant do anything he is at the end of his row." Is there anything that might be applied, mutatis mutandis, to Portland and the trade of the northwest?

"Not even the favor of a vice president, backed by the entire bourbon democracy of Hoosierdom, will secure for Postmaster Jones the privilege of trampling on a law of the United States while Grover Cleveland is president," is the prediction of the Boston Herald, mugwump. Let us wait and see.

The New York Times (mugwump) admits that it is not easy to see wherein the "Bourbon democrats" of Virginia have any advantage over "Mahone republicans" so far as the state debt is concerned. It quotes the Richmond Dispatch, chief of the democratic papers of Virginia, as saying that its party is resolved to defeat the supreme court decision by making the state taxes fall due four times a year, when few or no coupons could be used; by "repudiating" all bonds funded under order of a federal court, and by making unpaid taxes a lien on the real estate of the delinquent taxpayers. The democratic state convention of Virginia, held last week, resolved to stand by the Mahone-Riddleberger "settlement" to the last; and now we don't hear any of the democratic papers of the country declaiming as was their wont against "Mahone, the repudiator."

INCREASING IMPATIENCE.

"When are we to get the offices?" In democratic circles this is the burning question. True, a good many of the offices have already been obtained by long-waiting democrats; but there is a case where nothing has been done while anything remains to be done. Though democrats now have probably half the offices, they want the other half as eagerly as they wanted the whole. So long as there is a single republican in office the spectacle is painful to the long-suffering democratic brother; and who can wonder? Already the president has removed thousands of republicans, but 'tis not enough. "Think nothing done," the democratic brother cries, "while aught remains."

The administration has had an existence of five months, and the republicans are not all out yet. The delay grows intolerable. The first month there was serious disappointment, but it was smothered under the supposition or hope that after the administration had got fairly under way the work would be done. It is, indeed, going on all the time, but not fast enough. How the leaden hours do drag along with the democratic brother who is waiting for the removal of a republican, or for his term to expire!

The delay is the result of the counsels and commands of the mugwumps, by whom Mr. Cleveland was elected. The regular democracy naturally believed that he would at once throw out of office all republicans, and put in all democrats. But the mugwumps won't have this. They want only prominent republican political workers thrown out, and no prominent democratic political workers put in. But it is impossible to please both mugwumps and democrats; and since the former are the more nearly pleased, or claim to be, the latter are in the sulks and begin to want to know who they are, anyhow, that constitute the democratic party—the handful of mugwumps, or the millions of faithful democrats who stood by the party while these same mugwumps, during twenty-four years, were knifing it.

There will be music by the democratic band when congress meets. This collision of opposing powers was inevitable from the circumstances under which the president was elected, or under which only could any democratic president have been elected. There are not enough democratic votes in the country to elect a president. No democrat could be elected to the presidency, without receiving the votes of a powerful republican faction. No president elected by such a combination would find it possible to satisfy all the political elements to which he owed his success. President Cleveland has met a realization of this inevitable fact, and his course is making a great many sore hearts in his party. It is a source of deep distress to democrats of the true faith to think that their president, or the president whom they supposed to be theirs, regards himself as under deeper obligations to the mugwumps than to democrats of the old line. Yet this will seem to them to be true so long as he permits any republican to remain in official place. "Bother that mugwump invention, the civil service humbug!" is the exclamation of every democrat.

Hon. George H. Williams has been chosen to deliver the address in this city next Saturday in commemoration of the life and services of General Grant. He is the fittest man among us for such a service. His intimate relations with the deceased ex-president, as a member of his cabinet and in other ways, together with his own abilities and eminence as a speaker, renders the selection the most fit that could be made. No one knew General Grant better; no one had more of his confidence, and no one can pay a more worthy tribute to his memory.

The New York Times says that $500,000 cannot be raised to erect a monument over General Grant's remains at New York. Chicago, however, would raise it in a week, if Lincoln park, in that city, had been selected as the burial place. The New York World, which has just completed the Bartholdi fund, and knows therefore what hard begging it takes to erect a monument in the rich eastern metropolis, proposes that General Grant's remains be deposited at the foot of "Liberty Enlightening the World."

The Rev. Dr. Leonard the prohibitory candidate for governor of Ohio, is reported as saying: "Rather than vote to license the traffic in intoxicating drinks I would vote for a fountain at every street corner, from which should flow a continuous stream of whisky free to everybody, and furnish tin cups from which all who desired could drink their fill." Nothing could be better for the liquor traffic than this intemperate talk in the name of temperance.

Postmaster Jones of Indianapolis tells the civil service examiner who is now in his office hauling him over the coals, that he "don't know what the last election meant if it didn't mean that the republicans were to be turned out:" that "Hendricks thinks so too," and that "the head and front of his offending hath this extent no more." All of which makes the mugwumps yell still more lustily for his removal.

Large extracts from Andrew Jackson's views on the government's civil service, illustrated by examples showing the way he did it, now adorn the columns of democratic papers and furnish topics for leading articles.

Evidently in anticipation of a large secession of white voters in Louisiana the democrats of that state are striving industriously to get negroes to join their party.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

OREGON.

A new depot is to be built by the O. & C. R. R. at Eugene City, to cost about $1500.

Peter Moe, an eastern Oregon pioneer of 1864, died at LaGrande, July 26, aged 76 years. His death was caused by paralysis resulting from a fall received the previous day.

The buildings at Smith Bros.' milk ranch, south of Marshfield, were destroyed by fire last Thursday. A forest fire raging in the vicinity caused the catastrophe. The loss is about $750.

Ex Senator Slater of LaGrande has been suffering the past week with one of his eyes, which has become so inflamed as to cause intense pain, and has compelled him to keep his room most of the time.

James W. Weaver, a pioneer of 1853, died at his home on Myrtle creek, Douglas county, July 25, aged 40 years. Deceased was a member of the First Oregon volunteers, and served throughout the war years.

On Thursday last the little town of Elkton, Douglas county, came near being burned to ashes, the fire closing in from the mountains; but fortunately, by the aid of a back fire and the united efforts of men, women and children, the flames were subdued.

Several miles of placer ground has been taken up along Pine creek, Union county. A Union company sent a complete outfit up there Wednesday, and a shaft will be sunk at once, and the claims fully prospected. A few pans of dirt taken from the creek turned out remarkably rich.

Last Wednesday evening, while Mary, a 17-year-old daughter of Mr. Job Denning of Looking Glass, Douglas county, was gathering plums, she slipped and fell about ten feet to the ground, receiving internal injuries of so severe a nature that the physician who was called says that she will probably die.

Union Sentinel: Mr. E. Haynes, who lives ten miles above town, received a serious injury last week while using a sulky hay rake by trying to dump the load, and in the effort something broke loose on the inside just below his ribs, which has caused great suffering since, and fears are entertained by his friends that it may yet prove fatal.

Weston Leader: Mr. Al Johnson threshed a field of wheat near Centerville this week that yielded forty-three bushels per acre. Joseph Murphy one of the substantial grangers living near Milton, estimates his crop this year at 50,000 bushels. Mr. C. B. Upton, near Walla Walla, threshed from thirty acres an average of ninety and one-third bushels of barley to the acre.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS IN VIRGINIA.

A Talk with John S. Wise—The Democrats Sharply Arraigned.

New York Tribune, July 25.

Ex-Congressman John S. Wise, of Virginia, the republican nominee for governor, who is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, was asked day before yesterday by a Tribune reporter about the political situation there, and replied: "If the republicans of the north will cease treating us like poor relations, fit only to eat at the second table, and give us that moral and earnest support which we deserve, there will be no trouble about making Virginia a republican state permanently. It is worth a great effort because of the possibilities that it opens up. It would reform the entire line of battle for the party instead of leaving it driven back on the old and pitiless north and south boundary. Then, too, if we carry Ohio in October of this year and Virginia and New York in November—I think the New York outlook is very bright—that it will be such a black eye for the administration that we shall have an easy victory in 1888."

"Does the vote as heretofore cast encourage the belief that you can carry Virginia permanently?"

"Why not? We polled last fall 141,000 votes. The highest republican vote ever polled in the state prior to that was only 89,000. They beat us by only 3000 votes. If the republican national committee had given us speakers and aided us otherwise as they did other states, we could have wiped that out entirely. There are no two opinions about the proposition. There are two great mountain ranges running down through our state full of rich minerals. The people engaged in developing them are a hardy race of whites. They are protective tariff men. We have 50,000 votes there in the west. We have 90,000, mostly colored, votes in the east. The two elements dovetail harmoniously into one solid phalanx that is growing and growing every year. The people of our state were always federalists, which is another consideration generally overlooked. Why, my father in 1860, advocated the doctrine that we must stand by the Union, let the government become the opponents of the Union, and the northern states kick themselves out of it. After Sumter was fired on, no argument or reason could stop the tide which swept everybody into the war. Our people in Virginia were taught for generations such reverence for Washington and federalism that I have known my grandfather to knock men down for attacking the Washingtonian doctrine. The negroes of our state are of a more intelligent type than in the other southern states. Their civilization is further advanced. They were further advanced at the time of their emancipation, and have made considerable progress since. It is possible to organize them on an intelligent and enduring basis, as it is not possible elsewhere. There are other reasons why I think we can carry the state, some of them personal, of which I do not care to speak."

"What will be the main issues of the canvass?"

"The campaign will be largely local. The acts of the bourbon legislature furnish abundant material for a canvass entirely confined to state issues. They unseated seventeen members of the legislature and kept their successors from taking their seats until they had carried out their design. They unseated three senators and required them to be re-elected three times over before they would give them seats. They seated one man as senator who had been defeated by thousands of votes and who had not even made a contest for the seat. This was to give them the necessary two-thirds majority to complete their villainy. They legislated in every way, holding five sessions in all for that purpose, so as to throw out republicans elected to office and to replace the office with a bourbon occupant. They took away from the governor powers that have been attached to his office for a hundred years. They passed relief measures for 140 Bourbon collectors in the amount of over $100,000—money collected by them and much of it spent in Bourbon campaigns. Their most infamous measure was the creation of an electoral commission of three members in each county in the state, made up of their own party members. It was intended to give them a great force of workers, as there are a hundred counties in the state. We shall be able to defeat the efforts of these boards by care and watchfulness. There are not over twelve or fifteen counties that have been corrupted, and in which they can do any work of the kind designed. Aside from these local issues, the tariff question will have some prominence. It may be that before this canvass is over the Virginia bondholders will be supporting the republican cause there. That would be a curious circumstance, would it not? Yet we have never swerved from the position taken in the Riddleberger settlement. If they help us it will be because they have come over to us through fear of repudiation by the Bourbons. They called us repudiators only a year ago."

THE INDIANAPOLIS POSTOFFICE.

The Charges Against Old Tom Hendricks's Postmaster.

New York Times, Mugwump.

President Cleveland has in his possession facts regarding Vice President Hendricks's postmaster at Indianapolis, which he will hardly ignore. They are stated in a petition for the removal of the postmaster, Mr. Aquilla Jones, signed by the officers of the independent committee of Indiana, who offer to prove their allegations before any officer the president may designate. Since April 19, Mr. Jones has removed the assistant postmaster and put in a broken-down politician; has replaced the cashier with his own son; has removed the stamp clerk to give the place to a democratic clergyman; has removed the chief of the registry department and put in Mr. Hendricks's nephew, a boy of 22, formerly a clerk in a drug store; has replaced the chief of the repair department by a pork inspector; has discharged the janitor and put another son of his own in the place, and has turned out four poor women engaged in repairing mail sacks and put in three male democrats. Among the discharged employes were one ex-general of the Union army, one Union soldier, one soldier's widow, and one lady who was a niece of General Burnside.

Mr. Jones has observed the form of civil service examination, but has replaced two of the three local examiners by the new assistant postmaster and the vice-president's nephew. He makes no complaint against the removed men or women save that they were republicans. "I had promised," he says, "their places to democrats. I told these democrats before the examination, that if they passed the examination I would give them the places. I would not appoint a man, no matter how high an examination he passed, if he was a republican. I don't know what the last election meant if it did not mean that republicans were to be turned out." The civil service rules declare that "no discrimination shall be made by reason of any political opinion or affiliation by the appointing power," and also that "every violation by any officer in the executive civil service of these rules shall be good cause for removal." Obviously the independent committee of Indiana should be given the opportunity they ask to prove their allegations, and if they do prove them Mr. Jones and his two sons and the vice-president's nephew should be removed from the public service and turned over to the charity of Mr. Hendricks to maintain at his own expense, if he chooses to do so.

Wants Another Holiday.

A four-year-old Pittsburg urchin asked his mother last St. Patrick's day why they never celebrated St. Jacob's day. She said that when Tommy grew old and rheumatic they would celebrate it with a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil. This pacified him.

There has been a great deal of smoke in the atmosphere during the past two weeks, but as many of the fires are still raging in the forests, and there is no immediate prospect of rain, it is more than probable that the worst of it has not yet been felt.

This handsome edifice will be thrown open to the public on the evening of Thursday next, August 6. It has been in course of construction several years, and many thousands have been spent on the building and its interior decorations. The vocal selections are to be given by Miss Louise Edgar, Miss Manciet, Miss Hanley, Harry Gates, and last, but not least, Mrs. David Goodsell, who will make her first appearance in concert since her return. A grand orchestra of twenty-five pieces, composed of our leading professionals, augmented from the ranks of the Orchestral Union, will furnish the accompaniment, as also, some choice instrumental numbers. Reserved seats may be had after 8 o'clock this morning at D. W. Prentice's. The church has accommodations for from 1500 to 1600, and should be crowded on this occasion.

THE EAST SIDE.

The Multnomahs of East Portland beat the Clippers of Portland at the Oaks ground yesterday, by a score of 19 to 14.

In pursuance of the recommendation of the committee on health and police, J. Jerelaman was retired from the police force on the 1st of the month.

Joseph Paquet, wife and family will leave this morning for a few weeks' vacation at the residence of Mr. Paquet's father, Oak Grove, Wasco county.

An instance of the unbounded impertinence of the average tramp was furnished the other day, when one called at the residence of a railroad man during his absence, and in a fawning manner and faltering voice begged for a pair of drawers from his wife. It is unnecessary to describe the confusion of the lady, during which the fellow skulked away; and it is a pity someone was not present to properly reward him for his cheek.

Saturday evening Miss Powell, daughter of John Powell, residing on the Sandy road, upon washing her hands at the pump on their premises, relieved them of three gold rings, which she deposited in the soap-box and forgot for the time being. Shortly thereafter one of a number of Chinamen located near by came to the pump for water, and when later the rings were missed the Chinaman was naturally suspected. Early yesterday morning Mr. Powell inquired at the Chinese ranch for the heathen in question, and was informed he had gone to Portland with a companion. Frank Powell, his son, at once put out for East Portland, passed the Chinamen on the road, and by the time they arrived here he was ready to confront them with Officer McMillen. The officer "went through" them from head to foot, but failed to find the missing property, and let them go. "Frank," however, was unable to identify the suspected party, and probably the wrong men were encountered.

PORTLAND, MONDAY, AUGUST 3, 1885.

THE CHOLERA.

The cholera in Spain is very prevalent and very fatal. The number of new cases each day is from 1500 to 3000, and the deaths average about forty per cent of the whole. This is about the usual proportion of deaths from cholera in its most terrible visitations in Great Britain and the United States. In Russia and some parts of Turkey the death rate has been as high as sixty per cent. of all those attacked But even the lower mortality now prevailing in Spain shows that the type of cholera which is scourging that country is very malignant, and it will be surprising indeed if it do not spread over Europe within a year, and even reach America. Its progress is not always checked as summer wanes It has raged in midwinter, and with great fatality, at St, Petersburg, at a time when the temperature was from thirty to forty degrees below zero, showing that its morbific cause is not destroyed by intense cold—though the conditions for the growth of the poison that produces the disease, which are largely found in ordinary water containing organic impurities and in decomposing animal and vegetable matter, are not so prevalent in winter as in summer, at considerable distances from the equator

Several writers have articles on the subject of cholera, in the August number of the North American Review Their object is to furnish popular information on the subject, and yet embody in it the results of scientific observation. An article by Dr. John C. Peters is especially clear and appropriate. It presses on the attention of the reader the fact that cholera is a specific disease produced by development of its own germ, and not otherwise, that no disease resembling cholera in some of its symptoms becomes cholera, that the causes which produce diseases resembling cholera in some respects will not produce cholera itself, and that the specific cholera germ must be introduced into the body to produce the disease. Without the true cholera germ there can be no case of cholera yet it cannot be called a contagious disease as yellow fever or smallpox is, since multitudes may be in its presence and never be attacked by it, as some persons in certain situations will take malarial fevers while others in the same situations will not.

Dr Peters goes on to explain that impure air will not produce cholera that polluted water and unfit food will not produce it but that when cholera is actually present any of these causes, as well as fear, anxiety and distress of mind, will render its attacks more probable and, if they occur, more malignant and more probably fatal In the presence of actual cholera nauseous, smoky steams and exhalations, the impurities of gutters, sinks and sewers, of stable yards, slaughtering works and filthy, stagnant water, will increase the danger The nauseous reek of every place of this description gives notice of the existence of a habitat or nidus for cholera, which it is sure to occupy when the germs are introduced and the germs, multiplying therein, may be carried in a thousand unsuspected ways into the human body But unless the distinctive cholera germs are present there will be no cholera, though the disturbances to health resulting from bad sanitary conditions may in some ways resemble it.

Cholera is caused by the access of a specific poison to the stomach or intestines. This poison is an organic germ which is developed spontaneously only in certain parts of India. In the delta of the Ganges cholera is always present, though it is seldom very fatal there But when it is carried abroad it often develops an extreme malignity, apparently finding material abroad to grow in, which gives it a more active development than it usually attains in its native home It is one of the most ancient diseases of which history gives an account. Possibly in the course of centuries, the English in India may eradicate it by destroying its productive source or inciting cause The fact that its ravages there have been lessened very much during the present century indicates a possibility that it may, in time, be wholly extirpated

Perhaps by an additional statement we may make the one question involved in the discussion as to the shipment of wheat in sea going ships from Portland or from Astoria somewhat more clear to those whom it may concern It is not a question to be disputed between Astoria and Portland still less between the Astorian and OREGONIAN The simple inquiry is, in what way can wheat be shipped out of the Columbia river at least cost?

The wheat comes to Portland. Lines of transportation from the wheat region all converge here Hence the wheat must be carried from Portland to Astoria. How?

Hitherto it has been found more profitable to bring vessels up to Portland to load them even if the entire cargo could not be put on board here The least money for which wheat can be carried from Portland to Astoria in boats is, say, one dollar per ton But pilotage and towage for a ship of one thousand tons from Astoria to Portland and return does not cost nearly this amount per ton

Again, vessels will charter to load at Astoria for about 62½ cents per (long) ton less than to load at Portland This represents just about the amount which the average vessel must pay to ascend from Astoria to Portland and return. But wheat cannot be transported in boats from Portland to Astoria for [illegible] cents The present cost is about $1 25

The whole question is simply one of relative cost. Buyers and shippers at Portland have no preference whatever for loading wheat here rather than at Astoria. It is simply a study of cheapness An advantage of ten cents a ton would cause them to load at Astoria. If as some surmise, the river improvements this year shall be too slow to give a sufficient channel, then shippers will be compelled to lighter more or less. In this case they will pay the producer about 60 cents less per ton for his wheat.

The difference between charters at San Francisco and at Portland is about ten shillings Between San Francisco and Astoria it is about seven shillings six pence Of the ten shillings difference between San Francisco and Portland two and a half shillings represent the cost of bringing ships from Astoria to Portland and return Wheat can't be carried down the river from Portland to Astoria, in barges, for that money.

So many papers have spoken of an alleged relation of THE OREGONIAN to the change that has recently taken place in the Standard, that it is perhaps due to the latter paper to say that there is no foundation whatever for the statement or rumor The change was not brought about either directly or indirectly by THE OREGONIAN by its proprietors, or by any person or persons acting for it or them The Standard, so far as we know, is going it "on its own hook." It would seem, however, almost unnecessary to deny that THE OREGONIAN is "running" the Standard, since it is perhaps sufficiently known that this paper puts some energy, and the elements of success, into whatever it undertakes

The St Louis Republican says "It is not likely that St. Louis merchants will do anything to hold the southern trade of St. Louis against Chicago. The railroads won't let them and that settles it. When a railroad will not let a St. Louis merchant do anything he is at the end of his row" Is there anything that might be applied, mutatis nominibus, to Portland and the trade of the northwest?

"Not even the favor of a vice president, backed by the entire bourbon democracy of Hoosierdom, will secure for Postmaster Jones the privilege of trampling on a law of the United States while Grover Cleveland is president," is the prediction of the Boston Herald, mugwump Let us wait and see.

The New York Times (mugwump) admits that it is not easy to see wherein the "Bourbon democrats" of Virginia have any advantage over "Mahone republicans" so far as the state debt is concerned. It quotes the Richmond Dispatch, [illegible] of the democratic papers of Virginia, as [illegible] that its party is resolved to defeat the supreme court decision by making the state taxes fall due four times a year, when few or no coupons could be used by "repudiating" all bonds funded under order of a federal court, and by making unpaid taxes a lien on the real estate of the delinquent taxpayers. The democratic state convention of Virginia, held last week, resolved to stand by the Mahone-Riddleberger "settlement" to the last, and now we can't hear any of the democratic papers of the country declaiming as was their wont against "Mahone, the repudiator"

INCREASING IMPATIENCE

"When are we to get the offices?" In democratic circles this is the burning question True, a good many of the offices have already been obtained by long-waiting democrats; but this is a case where nothing has been done while anything remains to be done Though democrats now have probably half the offices, they want the other half as eagerly as they wanted the whole So long as there is a single republican in office the spectacle is painful to the long-suffering democratic brother, and who can wonder? Already the president has removed thousands of republicans, but 'tis not enough. "Think nothing done," the democratic brother cries, "while aught remains"

The administration has had an existence of five months, and the republicans are not all out yet. The delay grows intolerable The first month there was serious disappointment, but it was smothered under the supposition or hope that after the administration had got fairly under way the work would be done. It is, indeed going on all the time but not fast enough How the leaden hours do drag along with the democratic brother who is waiting for the removal of a republican, or for his term to expire!

The delay is the result of the counsels and commands of the mugwumps, by whom Mr Cleveland was elected The regular democrats naturally believed that he would at once throw out of office all republicans, and put in all democrats. But the mugwumps won't have this. They want only prominent republican political workers thrown out, and no prominent democratic political workers put in But it is impossible to please both mugwumps and democrats and since the former are the more nearly pleased, or claim to be, the latter are in the sulks and begin to want to know who they are anyhow, that constitute the democratic party—the handful of mugwumps, or the millions of faithful democrats who stood by the party while these same mugwumps, during twenty four years, were knifing it.

There will be music by the democratic band when congress meets This collision of opposing powers was inevitable from the circumstances under which the president was elected or under which only could any democratic president have been elected. There are not enough democratic votes in the country to elect a president No democrat could be elected to the presidency, without receiving the votes of a powerful republican faction No president elected by such a combination would find it possible to satisfy all the political elements to which he owed his success President Cleveland has met a realization of this inevitable fact, and his course is making a great many sore hearts in his party It is a source of deep distress to democrats of the true faith to think that their president, or the president whom they supposed to be theirs, regards himself as under deeper obligations to the mugwumps than to democrats of the old line Yet this will seem to them to be true so long as he permits any republican to remain in official place. "Lother that mugwump invention, the civil service humbug" is the exclamation of every democrat.

Hon George H Williams has been chosen to deliver the address in this city next Saturday in commemoration of the life and services of General Grant He is the fittest man among us for such a service His intimate relations with the deceased ex president, as a member of his cabinet and in other ways, together with his own abilities and eminence as a speaker, renders the selection the most fit that could be made No one knew General Grant better no one had more of his confidence, and no one can pay a more worthy tribute to his memory.

The New York Times says that $500,000 cannot be raised to erect a monument over General Grant's remains at New York Chicago, however, would raise it in a week, if Lincoln park, in that city, had been selected as the burial place The New York World, which has just completed the Bartholdi fund, and knows therefore what hard begging it takes to erect a monument in the rich eastern metropolis, proposes that General Grant's remains be deposited at the foot of "Liberty Enlightening the World."

The Rev Dr Leonard the prohibitory candidate for governor of Ohio, is reported as saying "Rather than vote to license the traffic in intoxicating drinks I would vote for a fountain at every street corner, from which should flow a continuous stream of whisky free to everybody, and furnish tin cups from which all who desired could drink their fill." Nothing could be better for the liquor traffic than this intemperate talk in the name of temperance.

Postmaster Jones of Indianapolis tells the civil service examiner who is now in his office hauling him over the coals, that he "don't know what the last election meant if it didn't mean that the republicans were to be turned out " that "Hendricks thinks so too," and that "the head and front of his offending hath this extent no more." All of which makes the mugwumps yell still more lustily for his removal

Large extracts from Andrew Jackson's views on the government's civil service, illustrated by examples showing the way he did it, now adorn the columns of democratic papers and furnish topics for leading articles.

Evidently in anticipation of a large secession of white voters in Louisiana the democrats of that state are striving industriously to get negroes to join their party

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

OREGON

A new depot is to be built by the O. & C. R. R at Eugene City, to cost about $1500

Peter Moe an eastern Oregon pioneer of 1844, died at Lagrande, July 26, aged 76 years His death was caused by paralysis resulting from a fall received the previous day

The buildings at Smith Bros milk ranch, south of Marshfield were destroyed by fire last Thursday A forest fire raging in the vicinity caused the catastrophe The loss is about $[illegible]

Ex Senator Slater of Lagrande has been suffering the past week with one of his eyes, which has become so inflamed as to cause intense pain, and has compelled him to keep his room most of the time

James W Weaver a pioneer of 1853, died at his home on Myrtle creek, Douglas county, July [illegible] aged 40 years Deceased was a member of the First Oregon volunteers, and served through out the war years,

On Thursday last the little town of Elkton, Douglas county, came near being burned to ashes the fire closing in from the mountains, but fortunately, by the aid of a back fire and the united efforts of men women and children, the flames were subdued.

Several miles of placer ground has been taken up along Pine creek Union county A Union company sent a complete outfit up there Wednesday and a shaft will be sunk at once, and the claim fully prospected A few pans of dirt taken from the creek turned out remarkably rich

Last Wednesday evening, while Mary, a 17-year-old daughter of Mr Job Denning of Looking Glass, Douglas county, was gathering plums, she slipped and fell about ten feet to the ground receiving internal injuries of so severe a nature that the physician who was called says that she will probably die

Union Scout: Mr E Haynes, who lives ten miles above town, received a serious injury last week while using a sulky hay rake by trying to dump the load, and in the effort something broke loose on the inside just below his ribs, which has caused great suffering since, and fears are entertained by his friends that it may yet prove fatal

Weston Leader Mr Al Johnson threshed a field of wheat near Centerville his week that yielded forty-three bushels per acre. Joseph Murphy, one of the substantial grangers living near Milton, estimates his crop this year at 50,000 bushels. Mr. C. B. Upton, near Walla Walla, threshed from thirty acres an average of ninety and one-third bushels of barley to the acre.

REPUBLICAN PROSPECTS IN VIRGINIA.

A Talk with John S. Wise—The Democrats Sharply Arraigned.

New York Tribune, July 27

Ex Congressman John S. Wise, of Virginia the republican nominee for governor, who is at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, was asked day before yesterday by a Tribune reporter about the political situation there, and replied "If the republicans of the north will cease treating us like poor relations fit only to eat at the second table, and give us that moral and earnest support which we deserve there will be no trouble about making Virginia a republican state permanently It is worth a great effort because of the possibilities that it opens up It would reform the entire line of battle for the party Instead of being driven back on the [illegible] and [illegible] north and south boundary The [illegible] If we carry Ohio in October of this year and Virginia and New York in November I think the New York outlook is very bright—that it will be such a brick [illegible] for the administration that we shall have an easy victory in 1888

Does the vote as heretofore cast encourage the belief that you can carry Virginia permanently

Why not? We polled last fall 141 000 votes The highest republican vote ever polled in the state prior to that was only 89 000 They beat us by only 3000 votes If the republican national committee had given us speakers and aided us otherwise as they did other states we could have wiped that out entirely There are no two opinions about the proposition There are two great mountain ranges running down through our state full of rich minerals The people engaged in developing them are a hardy race of whites They are protective tariff men We have 50 000 votes here in the west We have 50 000 more colored votes in the east The two elements dove all harmoniously into one solid phalanx that is growing and growing every year The people of our state were always federalists which is another consideration generally overlooked Why, my father, in 1860 advocated the doctrine that we must stand by the Union, let the government become the opponents of the Union and the northern states kick themselves out of it. After Sumter was fired on no argument or reason could stop the tide which swept everybody into the war Our people in Virginia were taught for generations such reverence for Washington and federalism that I have known my grandfather to knock men down for attacking the Washingtonian doctrine The negroes of our state are of a more intelligent type than in the other southern states Their civilization is further advanced They were further advanced at the time of their emancipation and have made considerable progress since It is possible to organize them on an intelligent and enduring basis as it is not possible elsewhere There are other reasons why I think we can carry the state, some of them personal, of which I do not care to speak."

What will be the main issues of the canvass?

The campaign will be largely local The acts of the bourbon legislature furnish abundant material for a canvass entirely confined to state issues They unseated seventeen members of the legislature and kept their successors from taking their seats until they had carried out their design They unseated three senators and required them to be re-elected three times over before they would give them seats They seated one man as senator who had been defeated by thousands of votes and who had not even made a contest for the seat This was to give them the necessary two thirds majority to complete their villainy They legislated in every way holding five sessions in all for that purpose so as to throw out republicans elected to office and to recreate the office with a bourbon occupant They took away from the governor powers that have been attached to his office for a hundred years They passed relief measures for 140 Bourbon collectors in the amount of over $100 000—money collected by them and much of it spent in Bourbon campaigns. Their most infamous measure was the creation of an electoral commission of three members in each county in the state made up of their own party members It was intended to give them a great force of workers as there are a hundred counties in the state We shall be able to defeat the efforts of these boards by care and watchfulness There are not over twelve or fifteen counties that have been corrupted, and in which they can do any work of the kind designed Aside from these local issues, the tariff question will have some prominence It may be that before this canvass is over the Virginia bondholders will be supporting the republican cause there That would be a curious circumstance, would it not Yet we have never swerved from the position taken in the Riddleberger settlement If they help us it will be because they have come over to us through fear of repudiation by the Bourbons They called us repudiators only a year ago"

THE INDIANAPOLIS POSTOFFICE

The Charges Against Old Tom Hendricks's Postmaster

New York Times Mugwump

President Cleveland has in his possession facts, regarding Vice President Hendricks's postmaster at Indianapolis which he will hardly ignore They are stated in a petition for the removal of the postmaster Mr Aquilla Jones signed by the officers of the independent committee of Indiana who offer to prove their allegations before any officer the president may designate. Since April 10 Mr Jones has removed the assistant postmaster and put in a broken down politician has replaced the cashier with his own [illegible] has removed the stamp clerk to give the place to a [illegible] has removed the chief of the registry department and put in Mr Hendricks's nephew a boy of 22 formerly a clerk in a drug store has replaced the chief of the repair department by a pork inspector, has discharged the janitor and put another son of his own in the place and has turned out four poor women engaged in repairing mail sacks and put in three male democrats. Among the discharged employes were one ex general of the Union army, one Union soldier one soldier's widow and one lady who was a niece of General Burnside

Mr Jones has observed the form of civil service examination, but has replaced two of the three local examiners by the new assistant postmaster and the vice-president's nephew He makes no complaint against the removed men or women says that they were republicans "I had promised," he says, "their places to democrats. I told these democrats before the examination that if they passed the examination I would give them the places I would not appoint a man, no matter how high an examination he passed if he was a republican I don't know what the last election meant if it did not mean that republicans were to be turned out. The civil service rules declare that no discrimination shall be made by reason of any political opinion or affiliation by the appointing power and also that every violation by any officer in the executive civil service of these rules shall be good cause for removal Obviously the independent committee of Indiana should be given the opportunity they ask to prove their allegations and if they do prove them Mr Jones and his two sons and the vice president's nephew should be removed from the public service and turned over to the charity of Mr Hendricks to maintain at his own expense if he chooses to do so

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

WOMEN NO SMARTER.—Some time since two gentlemen called at THE OREGONIAN office to tell how they had been swindled by purchasing needle threading machines which would not thread needles at all Last evening they called together again They seemed very happy. They said that they had been a little nettled by the remark THE OREGONIAN made about their investment in needle threaders to the effect that "no woman would be such a fool as to buy one of the bogus concerns," and also by the chaffing they had to endure from their wives on account of it But at last they had a chance to turn the laugh on their wives who were great cronies A few days since the women had each purchased from some wandering swindler a wonderful glass vessel like unto a huge tumbler or beer schooner for which they had paid $1 [illegible] This vessel had graduated scales upon it by which the fortunate possessor was supposed to be enabled to measure anything from a homeopathic dose of castor oil up to a quart of beer It was also represented to be a splendid ice cream freezer a first class egg beater, a good churn and could be used as a slop bowl dye tub, aquarium, finger bowl or celery glass It was fitted with a tin cover through which passed a sort of compound churn dasher whereby eggs were beat en cream agitated while freezing or if desired churned to butter Well the ladies after exhibiting their treasures to their husbands, and telling them there was some sense in such useful articles started in to use them "My wife," said one, "undertook to make ice cream She put the materials in the machine, packed it with pounded ice and salt in a flower pot and began to agitate with the dasher Instead of eight minutes as she had been told it took her two hours to get through with the job and when done the cream was all frozen to the dasher and had to be melted before it could be got off "My wife," said the second "undertook to beat some eggs She racked three with her 'treasure' and began to beat." After the eggs had been beaten enough she found that they were all stuck to the dasher and around the glass and all she could do was to wash them and had nothing left to show for her labor" Then they looked sheepish and the men began to feel happy On further trial it was found that the scales of weights and measures were all wrong, and so one of the ladies filled her glass with plum butter and the other threw hers over the back yard fence "And you can say," said one of the men "that no man would be such a fool as to buy one of these machines." And at this parting shot the two worthies went off together chuckling The ladies will have to wait for a chance to get even

RUNNING CHINAMEN ACROSS THE LINE.—Although it is well understood that parties are engaged in the business of smuggling Chinamen into this country from Victoria contrary to the provisions of the restriction act probably very few have met a Chinaman who would acknowledge that he came in here in this manner A few days since a Chinaman who has worked for several years for a First street barber told his employer that he had a cousin coming over from Victoria who had never been in this country before, and who had paid a white man $40 for being run in The "contraband" arrived here on schedule time, and is now looking for a job An OREGONIAN reporter who heard of the circumstance attempted to find out just how the thing was done but upon making inquiry of the consignee of the import as to what kind of craft the latter came over in he aroused the suspicions of the celestial, who after asking "what's matter?" relapsed into a state of dense "nowantalingism" which clothed him like a garment and which was impervious to all assaults The fact remains that Chinamen are being run in here on schedule time and this makes one reflect on the changes which take place in this great and glorious country Not so very long since the sable sons of Africa were being expedited out of this land of liberty, and were risking their lives and what of liberty they enjoyed to get across the line into the British possessions Now yellow sons of Asia are putting up their last dollar to be expedited across the line from British soil into this land of liberty, which is free to all of human birth except themselves What new wrinkle the next twenty years may develop in regard to getting into or out of this country remains to be seen This is a queer world anyway and there are but few who get out of it alive

POISONED BY A CHINAMAN.—At a late hour Saturday evening Dr McGuire of this place, says the Snohomish (W T) Eye was summoned to Smith's camp on Ebey slough, to attend two men who had been poisoned It seems that the Chinese cook had been discharged to give place to a white man named Frank Quail, who came over from Lowell on Friday and who brought with him a flask of bitters The Mongolian's feelings were somewhat hurt by the inference that he was an offensive partisan, and to get revenge he mixed some poison in the "bitters" as was afterwards learned from the waiter a Chinese boy Quail took a small drink from the flask Friday evening and was quite sick during the night He was able to continue his work on Saturday, and shortly before retiring in the evening he invited another member of the crew named Wellman to take something The Chinese boy who had seen his countryman put something in the flask told them that its contents were "heap bad—make much sick" and attempted to make them understand that the liquor had been poisoned but they did not seem to understand his "pigeon English," and each took a large drink of the mixture Shortly afterwards they were attacked with severe pains in the stomach and coming to the conclusion that they were poisoned they informed the rest of the crew and a physician was sent for Dr McGuire found the men in a very dangerous condition and suffering terribly The doctor after several hours work, succeeded in getting them out of danger It will be sometime however before they fully recover No clue of the Chinaman can be obtained, but it is safe to say that if he is ever seen in the vicinity of Smith's camp the country will be saved the expense of a trial

THE O R & N LEASE.—Of this lease the Railroad Gazette (New York) says It is for 99 years It provides for the conveyance of the Oregon company of everything except its corporate franchise books furniture and cash on hand including all its leases stocks and assets and 657 miles of railroad, which are to be operated by them for their own benefit they agreeing to pay over 2½ per cent semi annually on the $24,000,000 of Oregon Railway and Navigation company stock up to and including July 1, 1888 and 3 per cent semi annually thereafter during the life of the contract. Of the 5 per cent general mortgage bonds, which have been authorized on the 657 miles of road to the extent of $25,000 per mile there are reserved $6,000,000 to take up and cancel the $1,000,000 first-mortgage bonds of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company a like amount of scrip and $6,000,000 for the redemption of the debenture bonds Provision is also made for the satisfaction of other claims including the Oregonian railway lease the claim of the Oregon and Transcontinental company for $150,000 for the Texas Ferry grade the Bethlehem Iron Works claim, the Spencer-Ewing suit and for the purpose of making needed improvements an additional $1,000,000 of bonds being devoted to these uses Extensions may be built to the company's lines through the issue of these general mortgage bonds, such issue being limited however, to $25,000 per mile

ANOTHER EXCURSION TO PORTLAND.—The Union Pacific railway company have issued a circular to all their agents especially in the east announcing that on Tuesday September 8 a first class excursion will leave Council Bluffs for Portland Oregon in charge of Mr Hoyt Sherman Jr special agent Des Moines Iowa Round trip tickets from Council Bluffs to Portland and return will be sold at $100 each good for six months Sleeping car fare will be $14 each way The route taken will be Union Pacific, Council Bluffs via Denver to Granger Oregon Short Line Granger to Huntington Oregon Railway and Navigation Company Huntington to Portland The route carries the passengers through the most picturesque portions of America Eastern Nebraska Denver the Rocky mountains Cheyenne, Ames monument, Dale Creek bridge Laramie plains Green River buttes Oregon Short Line tunnel Bear lake and river Soda springs Portneuf canyon American Falls Burnt River canyon Powder River valley Grand Ronde valley Blue mountains and the grand scenery of the Columbia, are included in the attractions by the way. The season is the most delightful of the year in which to undertake [illegible] A large number of people have signified their intention to join this excursion which will arrive here September 13

THE JOSEPHINE COUNTY SEAT TROUBLE.—After using every means in his power and laboring personally for a long time to that end Hon Joball in Bourne of this city, who has large land interests in Josephine county southern Oregon succeeded in getting the county seat of that county located at Grant's Pass. And now the ungrateful people of that place forgetting that it was almost solely upon Mr Bourne's labors that they succeeded in getting the county seat, have resolved to build the public buildings, not upon Mr Bourne's land as he had naturally expected, but upon property belonging to Hon Sol Abraham of Roseburg, known as Abraham's addition to Grant's Pass. Mr Bourne is not disposed to yield to this location [illegible] buildings [illegible] to restrain the Josephine county court from erecting the county buildings in Abraham's addition The county court has given Mr Abraham full power of attorney to hire counsel to defend them in the case and here the matter now rests It is stated in this city that there is something more in this case than the mere business transaction Mr Bourne was a notable opponent of Hon Sol Hirsch when the latter was a candidate for the U S senatorship and it is well known that Mr Abraham is a firm friend personally and politically of Mr Hirsch

DRAPED IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD. The hall of the Grand Army posts in this city has been tastefully draped in mourning by the wives and daughters of the members of that order in memory of the dead hero the late commander of the Union forces All that loyal love and womanly taste could devise has been done to express the sorrow felt by the inmates of hundreds of happy homes wherein the name of Grant is revered and enshrined in undying memory linking the words "Union and Liberty" A large steel engraving draped in black hangs just back of the commander's seat and beneath the mournful words "Mustered out" Then, all around upon the walls are Union shields the bright stars and stripes dimmed as it were by the somber wreaths of crape around them and diagonally across each shield a black bar each containing in white letters the name of some battle at which the dead hero risked his life in his country's service. All these with the festoons and wreaths of crape that surround the wall and entwine everything in the apartment make up the garb of mourning in which the hall is dressed

ADDRESS TO PROHIBITIONISTS.—The Portland Prohibition Club have issued a printed address, signed by Chaplain R. S Stubbs president and J J Johnson, secretary, to their fellow prohibitionists of Oregon They are convinced "that the sin and sorrow, and shame will never be eradicated without a great national party to take up the question of prohibition in good faith and with a determination to push it persistently to the front till it is victorious" They advise in conclusion, organization and continual agitation of the subject of prohibition

CITY VIEW PARK RACES.—Visitors to City View park yesterday returned home well pleased, having witnessed a very interesting mile trotting race, best three in five between Kitty Lynch and Mt. Vernon Kitty Lynch was the favorite and won the first two heats But Mt. Vernon seemed to have better wind and won the next three heats, bringing grief on the backers of Lynch For the three eighths of a mile running race there were three entries. The race was won by Blue Mountain Belle, Hastings second, and Chuck Quin third. There was a foot race of 100 yards, for which the entries were B Hirsch H. Wills J W Gergan, Ferg Reid, J B Carter and W Brooks The race was won by Hirsch in 11 seconds The balloon was successfully inflated and the driver stepped into the basket to start on his aerial journey but owing to some trouble with the rope by which the balloon was suspended it was tipped over and all the hot air escaped When it was filled it took thirty two men to hold it down Its motto now is resurgam

NEW PATTERN NEEDED.—The style of bathing dress in common use which consists of a pair of abbreviated pantaloons united in matrimony with an abbreviated shirt, is a delusion and a snare and the cause of untold bother and misery The writer knows whereof he speaks having while cooped up in a box at the beach spent some valuable time in struggling into one of those gunny sacks with holes in the corners, and after returning from his bath having spent what seemed a life time in getting out of it again. There was no place to start from no nail upon which to hook a sleeve no nothing, except a wet clammy garment which clung closer than a plaster If there had been a physician on the beach his services would certainly have been called in Oh it is easier to go through the eye of a cambric camel than to shuck yourself of one of these sewed up at top and bottom bathing suits Can't someone invent a suit divided in the middle and open at both ends which can be got into and out of the same day, with only a reasonable amount of profanity

ANOTHER CHANGE IN TIME.—The fact that our time was not long since changed from the old style to standard time without any trouble will serve to quiet the nerves of people who now for the first time learn that a genius has proposed a new scheme for subdividing time decimally, each hour to consist of 100 minutes and each minute of 100 seconds. There will be some objections to this The man who is accustomed to having his eggs boiled three minutes will be apt to find them too hard, and the fellow who wants you to "wait a minute" will take advantage of the new style to keep you an hour instead of only half an hour as now Those who are accustomed to dodging around the corner for refreshments every fifteen minutes will be apt to think it a long time between drinks The laboring man who has for years been clamoring for eight hours to make a day's work will be pleased with the proposed change Another advantage will be that it won't take so long to go anywhere

JAIL DELIVERY AT KALAMA.—On the evening of August 1 at 7.30 o clock, two prisoners held to answer before the grand jury on a charge of burglary and robbery escaped from the custody of the constable. Their names given to the justice, are A H Leonard and R. Bennett Description Leonard, height five feet eight inches complexion fair, dark eyes weight 165 pounds quick movement has part of a coat-of-arms on one hand or wrist dark moustache kid shoes cloth uppers gray striped pants dark coat and vest close-fitting, no overshirt wears only an undershirt, Bennett height six feet one and a half inches, light complexion very fair, very light moustache hardly perceptible scar or cut over eye weight 170 pounds dark pants coat and vest very small check dark color, patch under right arm of coat, clothes fitting closely (neither one had pockets in front of pants both hip pockets shoes low kid, patch of buckskin on right shoe, light felt hat

ARRESTED FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Henry Bacon and Charles McLaughlin, two of the best known and worst hoodlum thieves in this city have it is believed with exceeding great joy run their heads into a noose at last. They were arrested last night for the robbery of a man named Charles Pugh a mechanic, who is now employed on Ankeny's new building, corner of Second and Morrison streets He was walking along the street when these two thieves set upon him and snatched his gold watch and chain which they succeeded in making away with He fortunately recognized them and made complaint to the police who soon effected their capture The watch and chain was recovered from a saloon where they had been pawned for $4

FREIGHT RATES IN THE VALLEY.—The Oregon and California railroad has issued a circular announcing that grain will be carried from points in the Willamette valley to Portland in car load lots at 34 cents per hundred pounds or $6 80 per ton equal to about 20 cents a bushel A special rate has also been made on oats of 23 cents per hundred from all points in the valley—about 8 cents per bushel. Mr E P Rogers general freight and passenger agent, also states that arrangements have been made to take melons in car loads by passenger trains from stations in the Rogue river valley to Portland and way stations This will give any who desire to ship melons a chance to get them laid down in Portland on short notice and without danger of loss by spoiling

SUSPICIOUS FIRE.—About 6 o clock on Saturday morning last when the proprietors of the saloon connected with the Chehalis hotel, at Chehalis W T arose, the floor and counter of the saloon were found to be in flames The fire had gained considerable headway but by prompt and energetic action was extinguished The floor and counter appeared to have been saturated with coal oil About an hour later another fire was discovered under the house, and was soon put out Later in the day Mrs E. Barrett, who keeps the Chehalis house upon going to her trunk, discovered that $700 had been stolen. This, of course threw the town into a little excitement and many are the surmises queries, wonders and opinions There is no insurance on the house, but there is on the stock of liquors

EXTENT OF CHINATOWN IN SAN FRANCISCO.—An official map of the Chinese quarter in San Francisco was prepared by the board of supervisors of that city last month. A copy is displayed in the window of A Lobe's store on Second street. It is a large map, comprising twelve blocks lying between Kearney and Stockton streets The opium joints gambling houses "joss houses and other Chinese places of business are designated by different colors The map is calculated to strike the beholder with amazement at the great amount of territory which the Chinese occupy in the very heart of San Francisco and leaves little cause to wonder that Californians favored the restriction act

THE OREGONIAN ON THE O & C R R.—The contract of the parties who sell THE OREGONIAN on the East and West side roads with the railroad company expired a day or two since and no new contract has yet been made Consequently there is no one to furnish passengers on these roads with THE OREGONIAN at present and it will probably be several days before permanent arrangements for the sale of this paper will be made To avoid disappointment to the traveling public the managers of THE OREGONIAN will endeavor to make some kind of temporary arrangement whereby the paper may be supplied until the railroad company has made a new contract

UNACCOUNTABLE BOORISHNESS.—On board a bus that met the east bound train yesterday there was a young and stout Hebrew and a lady whose avoirdupois probably reached 250 pounds who took seats opposite each other at the rear end of the bus A lady desired to alight before the vehicle reached its destination To pass the two corner occupants was an impossibility The masculine was asked and declined to make way the stout lady stepped out and made the passage clear The former ought to consider himself honored by this notice Perhaps he will feel proud of himself when he reads it. Such boorishness is unaccountable

SEA SIDE RESORT TRIPS.—Until the end of this season the R. R Thompson will run as at present, leaving at 8 30 A M on Tuesday and Thursday and at 10 A M on Saturday for Astoria Ilwaco and Clatsop The Gen Miles waits at Astoria for her and comes alongside so that passengers save nothing by starting on the earlier steamers The earlier steamers leave as usual at every morning, except Sunday from Ash street The O R & N tickets are good for return on either the R R Thompson Wide West or Mountain Queen which is a great convenience over being compelled to wait for any particular steamer

FRUIT SPECIMENS FROM LINN COUNTY.—T J Cline county immigration agent at Albany sent a box of fruit to the state immigration board rooms Saturday and C W Watts of Albany contributed a few choice specimens of the Oregon peach They are from the only tree of the kind in Oregon The early settlers in the valley found this tree and fruit upon their arrival in this country Mr Backensto of Albany, contributes a splendid specimen of the egg (Washington and Jefferson) plum All the fruit coming from Linn county this season is magnificent in size color and flavor

THE STARS BEATEN.

In the Game at Vancouver Yesterday the Portlands Gain the Victory by a Score of 13 to 12

The first match of the season between the Portlands and the Stars was played yesterday at Vancouver and resulted in a victory for the former after an exciting game A large and orderly crowd went over to see the contest and were well repaid though somewhat disgusted over delay in going and coming, as the wind made the towing of the barge quite difficult. The Stars did much the better batting, hitting Glendenning freely and bunching their hits in two innings but they fielded poorly at critical times The Portlands did not bat Tierney to much purpose but took advantage of their opponent's errors For the first time in years the Stars had the applause of the spectators, and it was largely due to dissatisfaction over a decision of Umpire Ford in the third inning Two of the Portlands were on second and third bases and a good batter stepped to the plate. He was given his base on balls, thus filling the bases, and they Tierney got three strikes on the next batter, Wilson dropped the third strike, picked up the ball, touched the home base, and threw to third, whence the ball was passed to second and first bases. Ford said "out at third" but did not give a decision at second, and "out at first." Then he reversed the decisions saying the catcher held the ball momentarily and declared only the striker out The Stars claimed the triple play, and the crowd hissed the umpire for changing his decision and refusing to allow more than one man out The Stars continued the game under protest Afterward the Portlands got five runs in the inning though they made but two base hits, and as the umpire called the third man out the crowd cried "six out seven out" and so on This was the only unpleasant feature of the game, and when the Stars got seven runs in the next inning they were loudly cheered After that Glendenning settled down and pitched effectively, and the Stars were shut out the rest of the game The Portlands pulled up through good base running, and their winning runs in the ninth inning were scored on two errors and a hit Wilson caught much better yesterday than a week ago The Portlands now realize that they have have a strong nine to contend with and the game next Sunday at the new park in East Portland will draw an immense crowd The following is

B W DEL

Last week my physician advised me to give my over worked brain a rest and take a vacation out among the honest grangers, where the yellow grain is waiting for the reapers and the laborers are few He also advised me to pay an old bill for past advice but that is irrelevant

It was the 1st of August when I turned my back upon the heated city for the rural districts When I walked hurriedly by the office a half score of eager creditors were climbing the stairs and though the still, calm voice of duty said "Go up and make them happy" the deep voice of nature called me to her side This will explain to my creditors When the voice of nature calls me to her side I am not in the habit of disregarding her appeal It is unfortunate to the collector but it don't pay to monkey with nature

When I reached the rural house of my host he met me with outstretched arms and a whetstone

"You are just in time," he said. "We are going to cut the fifteen acre field of oats on the hill burn and I've arranged a race between you and Pete Parsons Pete thinks he's a boss with a scythe but I've often heard you tell what you have done in that line, and I'll bet you'll lay him out before 10 o clock

He was eminently correct In less than fifteen minutes Peter was laid up for repairs, and a small boy was hunting in the stubble for a large chunk of Peter's leg that I had playfully removed. After that they crowned me Harvest King and when ever I picked up a scythe the men only shook their heads and moved to another part of the field. My motto has always been to do well whatever I attempt

When there were no more oat fields to conquer I strolled down into the fragrant meadow, where I attempted to make friends with the only occupant a beautiful sleek creature that was lazily fanning away the flies. The tinkle of the bell as it floated lazily on the summer air opened the flood gate of memory, bringing back a picture of the happy long ago, when I was a barefoot boy, and drove the cows homeward at eventide A deep sigh half of sorrow and half of pleasure, stirred this sympathetic breast, and seating myself upon a fallen tree I strove to check the flow of memory, mopping the fast falling tears with a red silk handkerchief. Then I turned my back upon the scene that had inspired these sad recollections, and strolled toward the meadow fence. Perhaps I hurried probably I ran At all events I took a deep interest in getting to the meadow fence before that bovine of the sterner sex He seemed to desire a closer acquaintance but I am always shy with strangers so I merely tossed him my red handkerchief and silk hat as souvenirs and went to dinner

Many people wonder why the farmer is compelled to work fifteen hours a day, and then worry along with a mortgage on his farm It used to be a surprise to me but the mystery was solved when I saw the harvest hands eat dinner During the meal we were treated to a very exciting race between Ike Parsons and Jim [illegible] The first said grace, and the last word was the signal for the start. While I was lifting my eyes Ike and Jim each put away a biscuit and went back for more. Ike's hand reached the plate first but Jim drew the smaller piece of bread, which sort of evened the match. At the end of the first minute both men reached for the chicken, but Jim got there first so Ike caromed on the roast beef, and by a delicate fau pas raked in two biscuits at once This sort of staggered Jim but Ike choked slightly at this juncture, which again put the men neck and neck For the first five minutes it was nip and tuck but at this stage of the race Jim's hand moved a second sooner than Ike's raking in the last biscuit and the last chicken-leg on the plate, and compelling the latter to wait for a fresh round from the kitchen As soon as possible Ike made a desperate spurt for first place, but Jim easily held his own and won as he pleased, licking his pie-plate just as Ike opened his mouth for the first bite.

When I think of the changes that have been wrought in the harvest time of the present day it makes me despondent Where are the merry dances at night by the rich harvest moon Where are the [illegible] of home brewed beer Where are the merry harvest songs and the closing harvest home [illegible] tradition When the [illegible] hand has wrestled with heavy bundles of wheat and oats for fourteen hours he doesn't feel inclined to dance by the light of the moon Not he Give him a feather bed under the eaves, and in less than ten seconds you can hear him snore all over the township That's the way he sings the harvest home There's no use talking poetry and sentiment have all been knocked out of the harvest field When wheat drops to sixty cents per bushel sentiment takes a back seat and the farmer has to hustle. If Ruth were to go gleaning around an Oregon harvest field she wouldn't make enough to buy pins to tuck up her skirts from the dew Ruth was a girl of sense she gleaned when it paid and when gleaning began to peter out she got married

That's not all I know about harvesting but [illegible]

An Ass Kicking a Dead Lion

Tacoma Ledger

The committee appointed to solicit funds for appropriately celebrating the funeral services of General Grant met with only one refusal to their otherwise very generally sustained subscription list and this came from a member of the firm of S Isaacs & Bro at the [illegible] store Not content with declining, as everyone had a perfect freedom to do, he must needs be offensive in expressing his contempt for the dead hero I comment thereon were perhaps to say something more hot with indignation than the press on about big [illegible] vigorously kicking dead lions [illegible]

Five or six shots were fired about 10 o clock last evening in the vicinity of B and Fifteenth streets but a policeman who hastened toward the scene was unable to find any clue to the person who did the shooting, or anything of the cause of it.

There has been a great deal of smoke in the atmosphere during the past two weeks, but as many of the fires are still raging in the forests, and there is no immediate prospect of rain it is more than probable that the worst of it has not yet been felt.

Joseph Paquet wife and family will leave this morning for a few weeks vacation at the residence of Mr Paquet's father Oak Grove, Wasco county

An instance of the unbounded impertinence of the average tramp was furnished the other day when one called at the residence of a railroad man during his absence and in a fawning manner and faltering voice begged for a pair of drawers from his wife It is unnecessary to describe the confusion of the lady during which the fellow skulked away and it is a pity someone was not present to properly reward him for his cheek.

Saturday evening Miss Powell, daughter of John Powell residing on the Sandy road upon washing her hands at the pump on their premises relieved them of three gold rings, which she deposited in the soap-box and forgot for the time being Shortly thereafter one of a number of Chinamen located near by came to the pump for water and when later the rings were missed the Chinaman was naturally suspected. Early yesterday morning Mr Powell inquired at the Chinese ranch for the heathen in question and was informed that he had gone to Portland with a companion. Frank Powell, his son at once put out for East Portland passed the Chinamen on the road and by the time they arrived here he was ready to confront them with Officer McMillen The officer went through them from head to foot [illegible] Frank however was unable to identify the suspected party and probably the wrong men were encountered

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

WOMEN NO SMARTER.—Some time since two gentlemen called at THE OREGONIAN office to tell how they had been swindled by purchasing needle threading machines which would not thread needles at all Last evening they called together again They seemed very happy They said that they had been a little nettled by the remark THE OREGONIAN made about their investment in needle threaders to the effect that "no woman would be such a fool as to buy one of the bogus concerns," and also by the chaffing they had to endure from their wives on account of it. But at last they had a chance to turn the laugh on their wives, who were great cronies A few days since the women had each purchased from some wandering swindler a wonderful glass vessel like unto a huge tumbler or beer schooner, for which they had paid $ [illegible] This vessel had graduated scales upon it by which the fortunate possessor was supposed to be enabled to measure anything from a homeopathic dose of castor oil up to a quart of beer It was also represented to be a splendid ice cream freezer a first class egg beater a good churn and could be used as a slop bowl dye tub, aquarium, finger bowl or celery glass It was fitted with a tin cover through which passed a sort of compound churn-dasher, whereby eggs were beaten, cream agitated while freezing, or if desired, churned to butter Well the ladies after exhibiting their treasures to their husbands, and telling them there was no sense in such useful articles, started in to use them "My wife," said one undertook to make ice cream She put the materials in the machine, packed it with pounded ice and salt in a flower pot and began to agitate with the dasher Instead of eight minutes as she had been told it took her two hours to get through with the job and when done the cream was all frozen to the dasher and had to be melted before it could be got off." "My wife" said the second "undertook to beat some eggs. She cracked three with her 'treasure' and began to 'beat' After the eggs had been beaten enough she found that they were all stuck to the dasher and around the glass and all she could do was to wash them and had nothing left to show for her labor" Then they looked sheepish and the men began to feel happy On further trial it was found that the scales of weights and measures were all wrong and one of the ladies filled her glass with plum butter and the other threw hers over the back yard fence "And you can say" said one of the men "that no man would be such a fool as to buy one of these machines." And at this parting shot the two worthies went off together chuckling The ladies will have to wait for a chance to get even.

RUNNING CHINAMEN ACROSS THE LINE.—Although it is well understood that parties are engaged in the business of smuggling Chinamen into this country from Victoria, contrary to the provisions of the restriction act probably very few have met a Chinaman who would acknowledge that he came in here in this manner A few days since a Chinaman who has worked for several years for a First street barber told his employer that he had a cousin coming over from Victoria who had never been in this country before, and who had paid a white man $40 for being run in The contraband arrived here on schedule time, and is now looking for a job An OREGONIAN reporter who heard of the circumstance attempted to find out just how the thing was done but upon making inquiry of the cousin of the "importer" as to what kind of craft the latter came over in he aroused the suspicions of the celestial, who after asking, "wha s matter" relapsed into a state of dense knownothingism which clothed him like a garment and which was impervious to all assaults. The fact remains that Chinamen are being run in here on schedule time, and this makes one reflect on the changes which take place in this great and glorious country Not so very long since the sable sons of Africa were being expedited out of this land of liberty, and were risking their lives and what of liberty they enjoyed to get across the line into the British possessions Now yellow sons of Asia are putting up their last dollar to be expedited across the line from British soil into this land of liberty which is free to all of human birth except themselves What new wrinkle the next twenty years may develop in regard to getting in or out of this country remains to be seen. This is a queer world anyway, and there are but few who get out of it alive

POISONED BY A CHINAMAN.—At a late hour Saturday evening Dr McGuire of this place says the Snohomish (W T) Eye was summoned to Smith's camp on Ebey slough to attend two men who had been poisoned It seems that the Chinese cook had been discharged to give place to a white man named Frank Quail, who came over from Lowell on Friday and who brought with him a flask of "bitters" The Mongolian's feelings were somewhat hurt by the inference that he was an offensive partisan, and to get revenge he mixed some poison in the "bitters," as was afterwards learned from the waiter a Chinese boy Quail took a small drink from the flask Friday evening and was quite sick during the night. He was able to continue his work on Saturday, and shortly before retiring in the evening he invited another member of the crew named Wellington to take something The Chinese boy who had seen his countryman put something in the flask told them that its contents were "heap bad—make'm sick" and attempted to make them understand that the liquor had been poisoned but they did not seem to understand his "pigeon English," and each took a large drink of the mixture Shortly afterwards they were attacked with severe pains in the stomach and coming to the conclusion that they were poisoned, they informed the rest of the crew and a physician was sent for Dr McGuire found the men in a very dangerous condition and suffering terribly The doctor after several hours work, succeeded in getting them out of danger It will be sometime however before they fully recover No clue of the Chinaman can be obtained, but it is safe to say that if he is ever seen in the vicinity of Smith's camp the country will be saved the expense of a trial.

THE O R & N LEASE.—Of this lease the Railroad Gazette (New York) says It is for 99 years It provides for the conveyance of the Oregon company of everything except its corporate franchise, books furniture and cash on hand including all its leases stocks and assets, and 657 miles of railroad, which are to be operated by them for their own benefit they agreeing to pay over 2½ per cent semi annually on the $24 000 000 of Oregon Railway and Navigation company stock up to and including July 1 1888 and 3 per cent semi annually thereafter during the life of the contract. Of the 5 per cent general mortgage bonds, which have been authorized in the 657 3 miles of road to the extent of $25 000 per mile there are reserved $6 000 000 to take up and cancel the $1 200,000 first mortgage bonds of the Oregon Railway and Navigation company a like amount of scrip and $6 000 000 for the redemption of the debenture bonds Provision is also made for the satisfaction of other claims including the Oregonian railway lease the claim of the Oregon and Transcontinental company for $150 000 for the Texas ferry crude the Bethlehem Iron Works claim, the Spencer Irving suit and for the purpose of making needed improvements an additional $1 000,000 of bonds being devoted to these uses. Extensions may be built to the company's lines through the issue of these general mortgage bonds, such issue being limited however to $25 000 per mile

ANOTHER EXCURSION TO PORTLAND.—The Union Pacific railway company have issued a circular to all their agents especially in the east announcing that on Tuesday September 8, a first class excursion will leave Council Bluffs for Portland, Oregon in charge of Mr Hoyt Sherman Jr special agent Des Moines Iowa Round trip tickets from Council Bluffs to Portland and return will be sold at $100 each good for six months Sleeping car fare will be $14 each way The route taken will be Union Pacific, Council Bluffs via Denver to Granger Oregon Short Line Granger to Huntington, Oregon Railway and Navigation Company Huntington to Portland This route carries the passengers through the most picturesque portions of America. Eastern Nebraska, Denver the Rocky mountains Cheyenne, Ames' monument, Dale Creek bridge Laramie plains Green River buttes Oregon Short Line tunnel Bear lake and river Soda springs Portneuf canyon American falls Burnt River canyon Powder River valley Grand Ronde valley Blue mountains and the grand scenery of the Columbia, are included in the attractions by the way The season is the most delightful of the year in which to undertake such a journey A large number of people have signified their intention to join this excursion which will arrive here September 1

THE JOSEPHINE COUNTY SEAT FIGHT.—After using every means in his power and laboring personally for a long time to that end Hon Jonathan Bourne of this city, who has large land interests in Josephine county southern Oregon succeeded in getting the county seat of that county located at Grant's Pass And now the ungrateful people of that place forgetting that it was almost solely upon Mr Bourne's labors that they succeeded in getting the county seat have resolved to build the public buildings not upon Mr Bourne's land as he had naturally expected but upon property belonging to Hon Sol. Abraham of Roseburg, known as Abraham's addition to Grant's Pass. Mr Bourne is not disposed to yield to this location of the buildings, and has brought suit to restrain the Josephine county court from erecting the county buildings in Abraham's addition The county court has given Mr Abraham full power of attorney to hire counsel to defend them in the case and there the matter now rests. It is stated in this city that there is something more in this case than the mere business transaction. Mr Bourne was a notable opponent of Hon Sol Hirsch when the latter was a candidate for the U S senatorship and it is well known that Mr Abraham is a firm friend personally and politically of Mr Hirsch.

DRAPED IN MEMORY OF THE DEAD The hall of the Grand Army posts in this city has been tastefully draped in mourning by the wives and daughters of the members of that order in memory of the dead hero the late commander of the Union forces All that loyal love and womanly taste could devise has been done to express the sorrow felt by the inmates of hundreds of happy homes wherein the name of Grant is revered and enshrined in undying memory, linking the words "Union" and "liberty" A large steel engraving draped in black hangs just back of the commander's seat and beneath the mournful words "Mustered out" Then all around upon the walls are Union shields the bright stars and stripes dimmed as it were by the somber wreaths of crape around them and diagonally across each shield a black bar with containing in white letters the name of some battle in which the dead hero risked his life in his country's service. All these with the festoons and wreaths of crape that surmount the walls and entwine everything in the apartment make up the garb of mourning in which the hall is dressed

ADDRESS TO PROHIBITIONISTS.—The Portland Prohibition Club have issued a printed address, signed by Chaplain R. S. Stubbs president and J. L. Johnson, secretary, to their fellow prohibitionists of Oregon They are convinced "that the sin and sorrow and shame will never be eradicated without a great national party to take up the question of prohibition in good faith and with a determination to push it persistently to the front till it is victorious" They advise in conclusion organization and continual agitation of the subject of prohibition

CITY VIEW PARK RACES.—Visitors to City View park yesterday returned home well pleased, having witnessed a very interesting mile trotting race, best three in five between Kitty Lynch and Mt. Vernon Kitty Lynch was the favorite and won the first two heats. But Mt. Vernon seemed to have better wind and won the next three heats, bringing grief on the backers of Lynch. For the three eighths of a mile running race there were three entries, The race was won by Blue Mountain Belle, Hastings second, and Chuck Quin third There was a foot race of 100 yards, for which the entries were B Hirsch H. Wills J W Geogan, Ferg Reid J B Carter and W Brooks The race was won by Hirsch in 11 seconds, The balloon was successfully inflated and the driver stepped into the basket to start on his aerial journey but owing to some trouble with the rope by which the balloon was suspended it was tipped over and all the hot air escaped When it was filled it took thirty two men to hold it down. Its motto now is resurgam

NEW PATTERN NEEDED.—The style of bathing dress in common use which consists of a pair of abbreviated pantaloons united in matrimony with an abbreviated shirt, is a delusion and a snare, and the cause of untold bother and misery The writer knows whereof he speaks having while cooped up in a 3x9 box at the beach spent some valuable time in struggling into one of those gunny sacks with holes in the corners and after returning from his bath having spent what seemed a lifetime in getting out of it again. There was no place to start from, no nail upon which to hook a sleeve; no nothing except a wet clammy garment which clung closer than a plaster. If there had been a physician on the beach his services would certainly have been called in Oh! it is easier to go through the eye of a cambric camel than to shuck yourself out of one of these sewed up at top and bottom bathing suits Can't someone invent a suit divided in the middle and open at both ends which can be got into and out of the same day, with only a reasonable amount of profanity

ANOTHER CHANGE IN TIME.—The fact that our time was not long since changed from the old style to standard time without any trouble will serve to quiet the nerves of people who now for the first time learn that a genius has proposed a new scheme for subdividing time decimally, each hour to consist of 100 minutes and each minute of 100 seconds. There will be some objections to this The man who is accustomed to having his eggs boiled three minutes will be apt to find them too hard, and the fellow who wants you to "wait a minute" will take advantage of the new style to keep you an hour instead of only half an hour as now Those who are accustomed to dodging around the corner for refreshments every fifteen minutes will be apt to think it a long time between drinks. The laboring man who has for years been clamoring for eight hours to make a day's work will be pleased with the proposed change Another advantage will be that it won't take so long to go anywhere

JAIL DELIVERY AT KALAMA On the evening of August 1 at 7.30 o'clock, two prisoners held to answer before the grand jury on a charge of burglary and robbery, escaped from the custody of the constable Their names given to the justice are A H Leonard and R. Bennett Description Leonard, height five feet, eight inches, complexion fair, dark eyes, weight 165 pounds quick movement, has part of a coat-of arms on one hand or wrist dark moustache kid shoes cloth uppers gray striped pants, dark coat and vest close-fitting no overshirt wears only an undershirt, Bennett height six feet one and a half inches, light complexion very fair, very light moustache hardly perceptible scar or cut over eye, weight 170 pounds dark pants coat and vest very small check dark color, patch under right arm of coat, clothes fitting closely (neither one had pockets in front of pants both hip pockets) shoes low kid, patch of buckskin on right shoe, light felt hat.

ARRESTED FOR HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Henry Baton and Charles McLaughlin two of the best known and worst hoodlum thieves in this city, have, it is believed with exceeding great joy run their heads into a noose at last. They were arrested last night for the robbery of a man named Charles Pugh a mechanic who is now employed on Mulkey's new building, corner of Second and Morrison streets He was walking along the street when these two thieves set upon him and snatched his gold watch and chain which they succeeded in making away with He fortunately recognized them and made complaint to the police who soon effected their capture. The watch and chain was recovered from a saloon where they had been pawned for $4

FREIGHT RATES IN THE VALLEY.—The Oregon and California railroad has issued a circular announcing that grain will be carried from points in the Willamette valley to Portland in car load lots at 34 cents per hundred pounds or $6 80 per ton equal to about 20 cents a bushel A special rate has also been made on oats of 2 cents per hundred from all points in the valley about 8 cents per bushel. Mr E. P Rogers general freight and passenger agent, also states that arrangements have been made to take melons in car loads by passenger trains from stations in the Rogue river valley to Portland and way stations This will give any who desire to ship melons a chance to get them laid down in Portland on short notice and without danger of loss by spoiling.

SUSPICIOUS FIRE.—About 6 o'clock on Saturday morning last when the proprietors of the saloon connected with the Chehalis hotel, at Chehalis, W T arose, the floor and counter of the saloon were found to be in flames. The fire had gained considerable headway, but by prompt and energetic action was extinguished The floor and counter appeared to have been saturated with coal oil About an hour later another fire was discovered under the house, and was soon put out Later in the day Mrs E. Barrett who keeps the Chehalis house, upon going to her trunk discovered that $700 had been stolen. This of course, threw the town into little excitement and many are the surmises queries wonders and opinions There is no insurance on the house, but there is on the stock of liquors.

EXTENT OF CHINATOWN IN SAN FRANCISCO.—An official map of the Chinese quarter in San Francisco was prepared by the board of supervisors of that city last month. A copy is displayed in the window of A. Lobe's store on Second street. It is a large map comprising twelve blocks lying between Kearney and Stockton streets. The opium joints gambling houses joss houses and other Chinese places of business are designated by different colors The map is calculated to strike the beholder with amazement at the great amount of territory which the Chinese occupy in the very heart of San Francisco, and leaves little cause to wonder that Californians favored the restriction act

ARRIVALS AT THE SEASIDE HOUSE.—Following is a list of the arrivals at the Seaside house since the last report C M Forbes F Townsend I Jacobs and family, Mrs Dr H. E Jones and daughter, Wm. Appel, C. THE OREGONIAN ON THE O & C R R.—The contract of the parties who sell THE OREGONIAN on the East and West side roads with the railroad company, expired a day or two since and no new contract has yet been made Consequently there is no one to furnish passengers on these roads with THE OREGONIAN at present and it will probably be several days before permanent arrangements for the sale of this paper will be made To avoid disappointment to the traveling public the managers of THE OREGONIAN will endeavor to make some kind of temporary arrangement whereby the paper may be supplied until the railroad company has made a new contract

UNACCOUNTABLE BOORISHNESS.—On board a 'bus that met the east bound train yesterday there was a young and stout Hebrew and a lady whose avoirdupois probably reached 250 pounds, who took seats opposite each other at the rear end of the 'bus A lady desired to alight before the vehicle reached its destination To pass the two corner occupants was an impossibility, The masculine was asked and declined to make way the stout lady stepped out and made the passage clear The former ought to consider himself honored by this notice Perhaps he will feel proud of it when he reads it Such boorishness is inexcusable

SEA SIDE RESORT TRIPS.—Until the end of this season, the R. R Thompson will run as at present leaving at 8 30 A. M. on Tuesday and Thursday and at 10 A M on Saturday for Astoria Ilwaco and Clatsop The Gen. Miles waits at Astoria for her, and comes alongside so that passengers save nothing by starting on the earlier steamers The earlier steamers leave as usual at 6 o'clock every morning except Sunday from Ash street The O R & N tickets are good for return on either the R P Thompson, Wide West or Mountain Queen which is a great convenience over being compelled to wait for any particular steamer

FRUIT SPECIMENS FROM LINN COUNTY.—T J Thomas county immigration agent at Albany sent a box of fruit to the state immigration board rooms Saturday and C W Watts of Albany contributed a few choice specimens of the Oregon peach They are from the only tree of the kind in Oregon The early settlers in the valley found this tree and fruit upon their arrival in this country Mr Backenstoe of Albany, contributes a splendid specimen of the egg (Washington and Jefferson) plum All the fruit coming from Linn county this season is magnificent in size color and flavor

SOUTHWESTERN OREGON AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The annual fair of the southwestern Oregon Agricultural Society will be held at Hall's Ferry, Coos county commencing September 1 188, and continue for four days Horse racing and general industrial exhibitions will form the main feature A great many premium prizes are offered by the society, who propose making their annual fairs permanent and substantial institutions

WHAT A REPUTATION WILL DO.—The sale of seats for "The Private Secretary" at New Market theater this evening is the largest that there has been for any performance during the past year. It is almost certain that any one who would secure any seat at all must go early Such is the patronage accorded a company and a play that come here with an excellent eastern reputation,

ONE INDIAN KILLS ANOTHER.—Last Sunday a Simcoe Indian was killed by a renegade of his tribe on an island just below Kennewick, says the Yakima Farmer The murdered siwash said to his slayer "You had better look out You know you are a horse thief, and you will be hung if you don't change your tactics," whereupon the horse thief stabbed him to death. Four of his tribe brought the corpse to Simcoe station and buried it Thursday The murderer is at Wallula, and says that if Sheriff Gray undertakes to arrest him he will kill him

RAN AGROUND.—While the steamer Fleetwood with the barge Cascades in tow was turning in the river in front of Vancouver last evening to start on her return with the baseball excursion, she stuck fast on a sand bar The boys began to think they would have to stay there all night when fortunately the Multnomah came along and threw the Fleetwood a line by which she was speedily dragged from her unpleasant position.

THE STARS BEATEN.

In the Game at Vancouver Yesterday the Portlands Gain the Victory by a Score of 13 to 12.

The first match of the season between the Portlands and the Stars was played yesterday at Vancouver and resulted in a victory for the former after an exciting game A large and orderly crowd went over to see the contest and were well repaid, though somewhat disgusted over delay in going and coming, as the wind made the towing of the barge quite difficult. The Stars did much the better batting, hitting Glendenning freely and bunching their hits in two innings but they fielded poorly at critical times, The Portlands did not bat Tierney to much purpose, but took advantage of their opponent's errors. For the first time in years the Stars had the applause of the spectators and it was largely due to dissatisfaction over a decision of Umpire Ford in the third inning Two of the Portlands were on second and third bases and a good batter stepped to the plate He was given his base on balls, thus filling the bases, and they Tierney got three strikes on the next batter Wilson dropped the third strike, picked up the ball, touched the home base, and threw to third whence the ball was passed to second and first bases. Ford said "out a third," but did not give a decision at second, and "out at first." Then he reversed the decisions, saying the catcher held the ball momentarily, and declared only the striker out. The Stars claimed the triple play, and the crowd hissed the umpire for changing his decision and refusing to allow more than one man out The Stars continued the game under protest. Afterward the Portlands got five runs in the inning though they made but two base hits, and as the umpire called the third man out the crowd cried "six out seven out" and so on This was the only unpleasant feature of the game, and when the Stars got seven runs in the next inning they were loudly cheered. After that Glendenning settled down and pitched effectively, and the Stars were shut out the rest of the game The Portlands pulled up through good base running, and their winning runs in the ninth inning were scored on two errors and a hit. Wilson caught much better yesterday than a week ago The Portlands now realize that they have have a strong nine to contend with and the game next Sunday at the new park in East Portland will draw an immense crowd The following is

N W DEE!

Last week my physician advised me to give my over worked brain a rest and take a vacation out among the honest grangers, where the yellow grain is waiting for the reapers and the laborers are few He also advised me to pay an old bill for past advice, but that is irrelevant.

It was the 1st of August when I turned my back upon the heated city for the rural districts When I walked hurriedly by the office a half score of eager creditors were climbing the stairs, and though the still, calm voice of duty said: "Go up and make them happy" the deep voice of nature called me to her side This will explain to my creditors When the voice of nature calls me to her side I am not in the habit of disregarding her appeal It is unfortunate for the collector but it don't pay to monkey with nature

When I reached the rural house of my host he met me with outstretched arms and a whetstone

"You are just in time," he said. "We are going to cut that ten acre field of oats on the hill burn and I've arranged a race between you and Pete Parsons Pete thinks he's a hoss with a scythe but I've often heard you tell what you have done in that line, and I'll bet you'll lay him out before 10 o clock"

He was eminently correct. In less than fifteen minutes Peter was laid up for repairs, and a small boy was hunting in the stubble for a large chunk of Peter's leg that I had playfully removed. After that they crowned me "Harvest King" and when ever I picked up a scythe the men only shook their heads and moved to another part of the field. My motto has always been to do well whatever I attempt

When there were no more oat fields to conquer I strolled down into the fragrant meadow, where I attempted to make friends with the only occupant a beautiful sleek creature that was lazily fanning away the flies. The tinkle of the bell as it floated lazily on the summer air opened the flood gate of memory, bringing back a picture of the happy long ago, when I was a barefoot boy and drove the cows homeward at eventide. A deep sigh half of sorrow and half of pleasure, stirred this sympathetic breast, and seating myself upon a fallen tree I strove to check the flow of memory, mopping the fast falling tears with a red silk handkerchief. Then I turned my back upon the scene that had inspired these sad recollections, and strolled toward the meadow fence. Perhaps I hurried, probably I ran At all events I took a deep interest in getting to the meadow fence before that bovine of the sterner sex He seemed to desire a closer acquaintance but I am always shy with strangers so I merely tossed him my red handkerchief and silk hat as souvenirs and went to dinner

Many people wonder why the farmer is compelled to work fifteen hours a day, and then worry along with a mortgage on his farm. It used to be a surprise to me but the mystery was solved when I saw six harvest hands eat dinner During the meal we were treated to a very exciting race between Ike Parsons and Jim Lee. The host said grace, and the last word was the signal for the start. While I was lifting my eyes Ike and Jim each put away a biscuit and went back for more Ike's hand reached the plate first, but Jim drew the smaller piece of bread, which sort of evened the match. At the end of the first minute both men reached for the chicken, but Jim got there first so Ike caromed on the roast beef, and by a delicate faux pas raked in two biscuit at once This sort of staggered Jim but Ike choked slightly at this juncture which again put the men neck and neck. For the first five minutes it was nip and tuck, but at this stage of the race Jim's hand moved a second sooner than Ike's raking in the last biscuit and the last chicken-leg or the plates and compelling the latter to wait for a fresh round from the kitchen As soon as possible Ike made a desperate spurt for first place, but Jim easily held his own and won as he pleased, licking his pie-plate just as Ike opened his mouth for the first bite

When I think of the changes that have been wrought in the harvest of the present day it makes me despondent Where are the merry dances at night by the rich harvest moon? Where are the foaming tankards of home-brewed beer? Where are the merry harvest songs and the closing harvest home? Only in tradition When the average harvest hand has wrestled with heavy bundles of wheat and oats for fourteen hours he doesn't feel inclined to dance by the light of the moon Not he give him a feather bed under the eaves and in less than ten seconds you can hear him snore all over the township That is the way he sings the harvest home There's no use talking poetry and sentiment have all been knocked out of the harvest field. When wheat drops to sixty cents per bushel sentiment takes a back seat and the farmer has to hustle If Ruth were to go gleaning around an Oregon harvest field she wouldn't make enough to buy pins to tuck up her skirts from the dew Ruth was a girl of sense—she gleaned when it paid and when gleaning began to peter out she got married

That's not all I know about harvesting but it's enough

An Ass Kicking a Dead Lion.

Tacoma Ledger

The committee appointed to solicit funds for appropriately celebrating the funeral services of General Grant met with only one refusal to their otherwise very generally sustained subscription list and this came from a member of the firm of S Isaacs & Bro at the X L store Not content with declining as every one had a perfect freedom to do, he must needs be offensive in expressing his contempt for the dead hero. To comment hereon were perhaps to say something more hot with indignation than an expression about big husky asses valorously kicking dead lions convey

POTATOES—In ample supply dealers paying about 50c per sack Sweets 4c

PROVISIONS—Much of the local meats in stock has suffered from warm weather yet there is considerable on hand Free arrivals of eastern cuts have been reported in the week and they are being pushed in every direction We quote jobbing parcels City cured hams, 10@11c bacon 9c, shoulders 7@8c country cured generally ½@1c less eastern hams 12@14c bacon 9@10c Lard steady for choice Quote best eastern tins 10@10 ½c best local in pails 10@10 ½c common 8c.

CHICKENS—Arrivals continue fair but sell up very close at $4@4 for old and $2@3 for young

EGGS—The quality of receipts is less complained The market is weak at 18c

HOPS—Prices have apparently reached the lowest possible range for two months to come New York buyers have taken more freely in the past week and the market is more active and at the same time steadier Should the new crop turn out as it promises to a lower turn is probable

HOPS—Emmet Wells New York hop circular of July 24 says Trade continues to drag—a natural result of the near approach of the new crop and the splendid outlook for a heavy yield Ten cents may now be considered the top price for best state hops of the last growth, and to this figure we reduce our quotations The best Pacifics are now selling at 8 cents. We can see no good reason why prices should go still lower hops now being considerably below the cost of production but with a heavy yield of the new crop and with little or no export outlook the price may run down to 5 cents or even lower within the next sixty days In fact it is reported on good authority that cents is all England is willing to pay for our hops to-day Referring to our back file of circulars, we find that prices have not been so low as now since June 14 1868, when we quoted best states at 8 to 10c On August 27, 1868 they were quoted at 6 to 10c Could anything be more discouraging for growers than the present situation The saying is, While there is life there is hope' There is yet time for great changes to take place in the crop On or about August 25, 1867 the lice got into the yards in this state and destroyed nearly the entire crop in forty eight hours Our dealers then were obliged to go into Wisconsin for fine hops, and they got them too for that state grew that year 30 000 bales of the finest hops ever produced in any country Some of them brought as high as 60 cents in this market the highest price ever reached here barring the season of 1882 when on November 10 we quoted as high as $1 10 But the high priced year in Wisconsin was a death blow to hop culture in that state They raised more hops the next year than was ever raised in one state of the Union Low prices followed and ruined everybody in the business The Pacific coast is on the same track now Unless the growers of that district haul in their horns and stop increasing their acreage they will be likely to meet the same fate Wisconsin growers did.

WOOL—A very free business has recently been done in eastern Oregon grades at San Francisco but values are no better Buyers generally appear satisfied with present prices and have bought freely in all markets. Here very little is doing Receipts have fallen away sharply and but few buyers are in the market We quote eastern Oregon common to choice 12@16c extra choice 17c valley 17@18c Umpqua 16@18

Hallowell & Coburn of Boston report under date of July 25 There has been another excited week in the wool market. The sales have been large and the receipts large but the receipts aggregate about twice as much as the sales and stocks are steadily increasing There is no change in prices but the market is firmer and stronger than for any previous week for a long time past and holders were seldom more indifferent about selling They reason that wool cannot be lower than at present and if there should be a general improvement in trade that an advance in both goods and wool can be reasonably looked for Indications point strongly to this improvement but after the depression of some months past confidence is restored with difficulty There is now however no doubt about the market Manufacturers are free buyers and the demand includes all grades and qualities although choice fine and medium fleece are most in demand The sales of the week have been 3 ?03 000 pounds and this amount has only been exceeded by two previous weeks since the first of January In interior markets stocks are rapidly disappearing The bulk of the Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been bought, and what is left is held at very full prices. In Michigan nothing of any consequence has been done Some sales have been made from second hands at 26c and on this basis 26c is a low quotation here In other states and territories there is no material change in the situation The crops of the country have been largely bought up and the bulk of the wool is now largely in the hands of dealers who are holding their stock with considerable confidence The business is active, but no satisfactory Present prices scarcely pay [illegible] trade is not very encouraging.

Libby Prison Records

The records of the rebel Libby prison hospital at Richmond Va. are now preserved in the government archives at Washington They are in a big, flat book, two inches thick, about three feet long and two feet wide Its paper is now yellow with age, but the ink is as black as when it first flowed from the pen. In the book more than 17,000 patients are entered, and the record shows that about 15 000 of them left the hospital for the grave Whole pages show that the prisoners died on the same day of their entry to the hospital, and the diseases which are recorded opposite their names are those of dysentery etc diseases which arose beyond doubt, from the poor condition in which they were kept

The most efficacious stimulants to excite the appetite are Angostura Bitters, prepared by Dr J G B Siegert & Sons Beware of counterfeits Ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article

COMMERCIAL.

SATURDAY, Aug 1

Overland receipts include 1 cs [illegible] [illegible] candy, [illegible] [illegible] soap, 1 cs cigars, 50 pkgs tobacco

In the month of July five vessels registering 4 [illegible] tons cleared for Queenstown or Liverpool from the Columbia river. They carried 5 [illegible] ctls wheat valued at $71,951, 2[illegible] bbls oil valued at $110 [illegible], and 44 40[illegible] cs salmon. In the same month last year one vessel cleared with wheat and one with salmon.

Shipments eastward by rail for the month of July were 96 422 lbs hops, 1 427 8[illegible] lbs wool, 25[illegible] bxs green fruit, 1 kg dried apples, 1 kt salmon bellies, 25 hf bbls salmon, 16 bls bear skins, [illegible] bls furs, 7 bls, 89 csks seal skins, 1 bl [illegible] bxs leather, 1 car cedar shingles, 35,576 cs Columbia river and 719 cs British Columbia salmon. Wool shipments included 146 1[illegible] lbs for Philadelphia, 574 lbs for New York, 1 [illegible]09 lbs for Hartford, 426 lbs for Seymour, and 1 26[illegible] [illegible] lbs for Boston. Hops went to Cincinnati, Chicago, Denver, Leadville, Milwaukee, Janesville, Alma, West Bay City, St. Paul, Waterville, Winnipeg and London. Seal skins went to New York from Puget sound and the car of shingles to Anoka from Chehalis.

PRODUCE RECEIPTS—Past 4 hours: [illegible] ctls wheat, 826 bbls flour, 800 ctls oats, 5[illegible] lbs wool, 1,029 lbs hides, 75 cs eggs, 1[illegible] pkgs butter, 16 bxs fruit. Also 23 059 ctls wheat, 180 [illegible] ctls barley, 202 ctls bran, 18,100 lbs wool, 21 sks flax seed, [illegible] melons from the eastern section.

FREIGHTS—No new business reported in futures and the market is apparently weaker. The wheat situation being weaker freights may suffer but to a slight extent only as rates are now as low as tonnage can be attracted at. Shippers are less willing to take up tonnage to arrive.

WHEAT—Advices are of a dull character and everything now points to a lower range this month. Locally $1 22½ for valley and 1 [illegible] for Walla Walla may be given as quoted extremes. At this buyers are not free purchasers and sellers are not unwilling to let go of valley at any extent. There is now nor can there soon be any buying pressure. The mills will call for very little new wheat this month.

OATS—A slight improvement in choice grades is locally manifest and [illegible]c has been obtained in a small way for extra choice; the demand is light. Offerings continue free but extremes are asked. San Francisco seems to have fallen back, stocks being too heavy to admit of substantial value improvement.

POTATOES—In ample supply; dealers paying about 50c per sack. Sweets 4c.

PROVISIONS—Much of the local meats in stock has suffered from warm weather, yet there is considerable on hand. Free arrivals of eastern cured have been reported in the week and they are being pushed in every direction. We quote jobbing parcels: City cured hams 10@11c, bacon 9c, shoulders [illegible]@8c; country cured generally ½@1c less; eastern hams 1[illegible]@13c, bacon 9@10c. Lard steady for choice. Quote best eastern tins 10@10[illegible]c, best local in pails 10@10[illegible]c, common 8c.

CHICKENS—Arrivals continue fair but sell up very close at $[illegible]@4 for old and $[illegible] for young.

EGGS—The quality of receipts is less complained of. The market is weak at 15c.

HOPS—Prices have apparently reached the lowest possible range for two months to come. New York buyers have taken more freely in the past week and the market is more active and at the same time steadier. Should the new crop turn out as it promises to a lower turn is probable.

HOPS—Emmet Wells' New York hop circular of July [illegible] says: Trade continues to drag—a natural result of the near approach of the new crop and the splendid outlook for a heavy yield. Ten cents may now be considered the top price for best state hops of the last growth and to this figure we reduce our quotations. The best Pacifics are now selling at 8 cents. We can see no good reason why prices should go still lower, hops now being considerably below the cost of production, but with a heavy yield of the new crop and with little or no export outlook the price may run down to [illegible] cents or even lower within the next sixty days. In fact it is reported on good authority that [illegible] cents is all England is willing to pay for our hops to-day. Referring to our back file of circulars we find that prices have not been so low as now since June 14, 1878, when we quoted best states at 8 to 10. On August [illegible]7, 1869, they were quoted at 6 to 10. Could anything be more discouraging for growers than the present situation? The saying is, 'While there is life there is hope.' There is yet time for great changes to take place in the crop. On or about August 25, 186[illegible], the lice got into the yards in this state and destroyed nearly the entire crop in forty-eight hours. Our dealers then were obliged to go into Wisconsin for fine hops, and they got them, too, for that state grew that year [illegible],000 bales of the finest hops ever produced in any country. Some of them brought as high as 60 cents in this market, the highest price ever reached here, barring the season of 188[illegible], when on November 10 we quoted as high as $1 10. But the high priced year in Wisconsin was a death blow to hop culture in that state. They raised more hops the next year than was ever raised in one state of the Union. Low prices followed and ruined everybody in the business. The Pacific coast is on the same track now. Unless the growers of that district haul in their horns and stop increasing their acreage they will be likely to meet the same fate Wisconsin growers did.

WOOL—A very free business has recently been done in eastern Oregon grades at San Francisco, but values are no better. Buyers generally appear satisfied with present prices and have bought freely in all markets. Here very little is doing. Receipts have fallen away largely and but few buyers are in the market. We quote easier: Oregon common to choice 12@16c, extra [illegible] valley 11@15c, Umpqua 16@18.

Hallowell & Coburn of Boston report under date of July [illegible]: There has been another excited week in the wool market. The sales have been large and the receipts large, but the receipts aggregate about twice as much as the sales and stocks are steadily increasing. There is no change in prices but the market is firmer and stronger than for any previous week for a long time past and holders were seldom more indifferent about selling. They reason that wool cannot be lower than at present and if there should be a general improvement in trade that an advance in both goods and wool can be reasonably looked for. Indications point strongly to this improvement, but after the depression [illegible] some months past confidence is restored with difficulty. There is now however no doubt about the market. Manufacturers are free buyers and the demand includes all grades and qualities, although choice fine and medium fleece are most in demand. The sales of the week have been [illegible] 28 000 pounds and this amount has only been exceeded by two previous weeks since the first of January. In interior markets stocks are rapidly disappearing. The bulk of the Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been bought and what is left is held at very full prices. In Michigan nothing of any consequence has been done. Some sales have been made from second hands at 26c and on this basis 28c is a low quotation here. In other states and territories there is no material change in the situation. The clips of the country have been largely bought up and the bulk of the wool is now largely in the hands of dealers who are holding their stock with considerable confidence. The business [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] this [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

MARK LANE REVIEW

LONDON, Aug 1—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the grain trade, says: Unusual heat has forced the wheat crop. Samples of the new crop will fall far short of general expectation. Barleys are much scorched and ripening very irregular. There is almost an entire absence of trade. Wheat is a shilling lower. There is nothing doing in foreign wheats. Flour is difficult of sale despite the fact that American imports are dwindling. Business in cargoes off coast and in the trade forward is at a standstill.

Libby Prison Records

The records of the rebel Libby prison hospital at Richmond, Va, are now preserved in the government archives at Washington. They are in a big flat book two inches thick, about three feet long and two feet wide. Its paper is now yellow with age, but the ink is as black as when it first flowed from the pen. In the book more than 1[illegible],000 patients are entered and the record shows that about 15,000 of them left the hospital for the grave. Whole pages show that the prisoners died on the same day of their entry to the hospital, and the diseases which are recorded opposite their names are those of dysentery, etc, diseases which arose beyond doubt, from the poor condition in which they were kept.

The most efficacious stimulants to excite the appetite are Angostura Bitters, prepared by Dr J G B Siegert & Sons. Beware of counterfeits. Ask your grocer or druggist for the genuine article.

SYPHILIS positively cured and entirely eradicated from the system. Gonorrhea, GLEET, Stricture, Orchitis, Hernia, or Rupture, Piles and other private diseases quickly cured.

It is self-evident that a physician who pays special attention to a certain class of diseases, and treating thousands annually, acquires great skill. Physicians knowing this fact often recommend persons to my care. When it is inconvenient to visit the city for treatment, medicines can be sent privately and safely by mail or express anywhere.

Cures Guaranteed in all Cases undertaken.

Consultations personally or by letter free and invited. Charges reasonable and correspondence strictly confidential.
